

Ground Parties Misdirected

Off on 'Wild Goose Chase'

Wrecked Plane Souvenir-Stripped

Pilfering Sparked Foul-Up

Widespread souvenir hunting from the wreck of the crashed Seabee aircraft at Nitinat Lake has been responsible for sending parties "off on wild goose chases" throughout the hunt for Cecil Rawlings.

The souvenir hunting is the latest in a tragic series of mistakes and accidents which have plagued the search for the missing Victorian.

ONLY DEVELOPMENT

In today's only development, RCMP officials reported the discovery of a fairly new shoe tongue in a bed of leaves which could have been used by Rawlings after the crash.

It is the same place where Rawlings' camera was found, some 1,200 feet from the site of the crash which claimed the life of Cecil Rhodes.

An attempt will be made this morning to get positive identification of this shoe tongue.

"If the shoe tongue is from Rawlings' shoes, and since the camera was definitely his, then we must accept the fact that he slept in that bed of leaves sometime after the crash," said RCMP Inspector W. Gervie last night.

TAKEN EARLY

The Daily Colonist learned last night that such equipment as the plane's survival kit, a dinghy, safety belt and a tail wheel had been taken early in the search by members of search parties.

One senior search official said: "We're very much concerned. This pilfering definitely led us off on wild goose chases."

RCMP confirmed the fact that items had been taken from the wreckage but said most had now been recovered and had been turned over to department of transport investigators.

NOT TOO FAR

"It never led us too far down the garden path as far as I'm aware," a senior RCMP spokesman said.

He added he did not think the camera had been taken from the wreck and then left in the bush where it was found.

"We toyed with the possibility but I don't think that was what happened," he stated.

FINAL REPORT

News of the souvenir hunting came as a final report in a long line of errors and mistakes which marked the search for Rawlings since the discovery of the wreckage at the northwestern tip of Nitinat Lake last Friday.

Now, seven days later when consideration is being given to cancelling the hunt shortly, there is still no positive proof that Rawlings escaped from the airplane wreckage alive or for that matter whether he was even aboard the aircraft when it took off from Nitinat Lake late on Sunday, May 29.

Search parties will again make ground sweeps through the densely-covered timberlands this morning, especially around the actual crash site.

ANOTHER LOOK

"This area certainly warrants another look," RCAF spokesman said last night.

Helicopters and float planes will make air sweeps to check the shorelines of lakes and rivers and the 50 soldiers from the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry in the area will again go into the bush.

Meanwhile the body of Claude James Creed, Brentwood fishing guide and outdoorsman, who was killed when a cable snapped as he was being hauled up to a helicopter Tuesday night, was brought to Victoria yesterday.

An inquest was opened before Coroner Dr. Edgar Gee of Lake Cowichan yesterday.

'Copter Rescues Ike Aide in Riot

TOKYO (UPI)—White House press secretary James Hagerty and U.S. Ambassador to Tokyo Douglas MacArthur III were rescued by a daring U.S. Marine helicopter today from mobs of leftist demonstrators trying to block President Eisenhower's visit to Japan.

The demonstrators had surrounded MacArthur's limousine at Tokyo International Airport after Hagerty landed to complete arrangements for the Eisenhower visit June 19-23.

TRAPPED FOR HOUR

Screaming, banging on the car's top and smashing the left front window, the demonstrators kept Hagerty and MacArthur trapped in the U.S. embassy auto more than an hour until a daring U.S. Marine helicopter pilot braved the crowd's fury to land and carry the two men to safety.

Hagerty jumped into the limousine almost as soon as the U.S. Air Force Constellation bringing him here landed. But the car never made the gate before it was swamped by demonstrators.

HELP CALLED

Only a few police were in the area, but 1,000 reinforcements were rushed in and officers formed a cordon around the car.

Fist and club fights raged

Trapped In Japan

JAMES HAG ERTY

freely around the car as Hagerty, pale but seemingly calm, sat inside smoking a cigarette.

Several helicopters circled overhead, making low passes over the crowd while the demonstrators threw rocks at the car, police and the helicopters.

Meanwhile, another estimated 3,000 demonstrators gathered in front of the U.S. embassy in downtown Tokyo. They shouted, "Ike don't visit Japan" and "U.S. get out of Tokyo."

A brawl between rightists and leftists broke out at the airport minutes before Hagerty's arrival at 3:35 p.m. (2:35 a.m. EDT).

The near-crazed demonstrators crawled over the sleek black Cadillac and jumped on it and appeared to be trying to drag Hagerty and MacArthur out of it.

The demonstrators smashed the left front window of the limousine in an attempt to carry out their threat to "frighten" Hagerty into telling "his master not to come to Japan."

PLACARDS SHOVED

They beat on other windows with their fists and shoved placards almost directly in front of Hagerty's and MacArthur's faces.

The top of the Cadillac was dented by the leftists who crawled over it.

Police finally fought their way to the automobile in hand-to-hand battles with the mob and formed a protective wall around it. Then they tried to move the car ahead slowly.

STONES FLY

A shower of stones came out of the mob. They fell on the car and the police.

Occasionally a fanatic demonstrator tried to crash through the police ranks and each time there was a violent stick and fist battle with police.

HUGE CUT

A police club met a demonstrator squarely across the forehead, smashing his glasses and opening a huge cut on his head. Police quickly dragged him away. Some of his colleagues tried to free him from police and the fight grew bigger.

They dragged one of the policemen a few yards away and began stomping and kicking him. He soon was rescued by other police.

This was but one of the many fights that broke out around the automobile where the two Americans were trapped. All of them lasted only a few seconds but they were usually violent and bloody.

There were an estimated 5,000 demonstrators and 2,000 police in the area.

PREMIER BENNETT ... inflation over

On Way Home

U.K. Stormed By Bennett?

BY RICHARD L. THOMAS

Colonist London Correspondent

LONDON—Premier Bennett left here homeward bound yesterday convinced he had taken the austere halls of British high finance by storm.

He boarded the Queen Mary at Southampton freely predicting that his fortnight of talks with the elite of the English investment world will produce dynamic results in securing development capital and new industries for British Columbia. "I met an influential cross-section of British bankers, financiers, industrialists and businessmen" and "they were impressed with British Columbia's record and convinced me that the period of acute inflation is over."

He said he had noted "intense interest" in British Columbia developments and progress and is "confident of substantial new investment in the province and a period of expanding trade in both directions between Britain and British Columbia."

The premier predicted that a number of important leaders of British industry will visit the province in the near future.

He said London was devoid of any "crisis temperament" and that he saw "complete confidence everywhere."

SIZE AND BEAUTY

Impressed by his visit to Crawley New Town, the premier said he believed the new planning concept could be adapted to British Columbia. He was particularly impressed by the size and beauty of parks and open spaces within British municipalities.

Immigration Under Fire

OTTAWA (CP)—Frank Howard, CCF—Skeena, suggested Thursday in the Commons that some immigration department officials might have participated in the Chinese immigration racket now under RCMP investigation.

At one point in the heated debate a CCF member charged there was "$33,000,000-worth of graft someplace."

HOTLY DENIED

An angry Immigration Minister Fairclough hotly denied the allegation and said that so far she has no doubts about the integrity of the immigration department staff.

"Put up or shut up," she said to Mr. Howard.

"The whole staff's rotten," interjected Arnold Peters (CCF, Timiskaming).

BLOW-UP

The blow-up came near the end of a long day's debate on immigration policy.

Mr. Howard said the Chinese immigration racket casts great doubt on the efficiency of departmental officials in Hong Kong.

"Maybe they participated in the scheme," he added. Mrs. Fairclough said she took strong exception to this remark.

Mr. Howard said he was told two or three years ago by Chinese-Canadians in Vancouver and Prince Rupert, B.C., that they could get relatives into Canada for $3,000.

INVOLVED

They had also mentioned, he said, that persons working for the immigration department were involved in the scheme.

He said on the basis of 11,000 illegal entrants—a figure which he said the department has not disputed—paying $3,000 each there was $33,000,000-worth of graft someplace." The department couldn't have been as ignorant of the racket as Mrs. Fairclough claimed.

At the night sitting, Mr. Peters renewed the accusations that immigration department officials whom he referred to as "ignorant and backward," must have known something about the illegal entry racket.

J. W. Pickersgill (L., Bonaville-Twillington), former immigration minister, accused Mr. Peters later of hiding behind his parliamentary immunity to attack officials who were present in the House but could not reply. About 15 departmental personnel were in the galleries at the time.

Hong Kong Typhoon Kills 60

HONG KONG (Reuters)—This battered British colony counted at least 60 persons dead or missing Thursday night in the wake of a typhoon.

Officials listed 28 persons dead, 32 missing, 27 severely injured and more than 4,000 homeless in the densely-populated colony on the coast of mainland China. The toll was expected to go higher.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

CARL BREITSCHMID, master cook, is to be found each Wednesday night in his back-garden barbecue, teaching the art of outdoor cooking to a group of grown-up pupils under auspices of Greater Victoria School Board's night school division.

I visited him there the other evening. Clad in a slogan-inscribed apron and chef's hat, he stood in a cloud of charcoal smoke inside a stone bower upon which a grape vine was growing.

His pupils sat around him, taking notes and hungrily eyeing a dozen steaks that were browning on the grill of a metal barbecue on legs.

This was the last lesson of a five-week course. A new one opens next Wednesday. "Ten dollars each—and you eat $4.50 worth of food," Carl says. (Anyone who is interested may apply to the school board offices.)

Carl kept up a flow of instructions as he tended the steaks.

Meanwhile, someone else fetched chunks of pineapple that had been barbecued in silver foil, on another grill. Delicious. There was corn, and the same way. And then the steaks. Tender, sweet and smoky.

I learned that on previous Wednesday evenings the pupil-cooks had helped prepare and eat barbecued salmon, chicken, pork chops, potatoes, apples, Hawaiian oranges, bananas and other tasty fare.

It didn't sound to me like a course of lessons that would make anyone want to play hooky. Yet one of the pupils, a Victoria lawyer, confided that he had missed three lessons.

"What mistakes do people make, when they are cooking food on an outdoor barbecue?" I asked Carl.

"The fire," he said. "Most of them put on too many charcoal briquets, or not enough. When there's too much, it's a waste of fuel, and you spoil your meat, dry it out too much."

"You can have liver, kidney, which don't require as much cooking as you would for beef. And the beef, round steak cut in small cubes, mushroom, slice of Spanish onion, green peppers, and string them alternately on a skewer."

"It doesn't take long—15 or 20 minutes—but you've got to baste it."

"Te-bone steak, should be an inch-and-a-half thick or even thicker. Lower it close to the fire for three minutes to sear it. Raise it five or six inches above the fire, let it cook the 10-12 minutes; as soon as the juice starts to bubble, turn it over and do the same on the other side. Twenty or 25 minutes for a two-inch steak."

"If there's not enough fire, you cook it too slowly, and that dries it out, too."

"Another thing is selecting the kind of food and making it the right size and thickness. When you're making shish kebabs, and you're putting the pieces of meat with vegetables, together, you have to cut the meat smaller, and you have to baste it, because if you don't the vegetables will be done before the meat."

"Chicken—it can be whole or jointed. But spit barbecuing is different from grill barbecuing. You can marinate in wine or beer for a time, too, before you put it on the grill."

"A lot of people think barbecuing is expensive. It isn't. It costs less to eat on a barbecue for 20 people than to serve dinner inside for eight people. You save on fuel, hot water, dishes—use paper plates."

"A good chef should always start his fire long in advance. I start mine 40 or 45 minutes in advance. While the fire gets under way he can prepare other things, and the guests can swim or play games. Then get people to help. Give them something to do."

"Barbecuing takes time. It's a leisure thing. It's not like rushing into a restaurant, sitting at a counter and gobbling the food down. It's meant for relaxation. Take your TV set in the garden if you want. Set up your portable swimming pool."

"You can set up a barbecue for as little as $30. $35 with all the equipment you need. Keep it simple, until you learn more. Keep your barbecue sauce simple, if you want it—then you can build your own sauce from there. Always use freshly-ground pepper. Never season a steak until it's nearly finished—otherwise you lose the meat flavor and just taste the condiments."

"Some people are putting barbecues in their boats. Catch the fish, clean it, put it straight in the barbecue. I'm not a fish-eater, but I like fish barbecued."

"We have different people taking the course—high school students, newlyweds. You don't have to be a millionaire to have a barbecue."

Carl's course is the first of its kind in Western Canada. Carl is well qualified to run it. He was trained at the Hotel du Lac, Lucerne, in his native Switzerland, and practiced his art in some fine hotels in the French Riviera, Italy and in Montreal.

He ran a Victoria restaurant for some years, now runs a delicatessen shop.

Barbecuing goes back to cave-man days, has a history that includes the roasting of whole buffalo and steers for great Texas parties, and now has come around to the 20th-century urban cave-man who refreshes himself and his family with outdoor cooking, after the day's hunt for the dollar.

Wild Horses

Rough Ride Ahead

The people who cut fences at Victoria Riding Academy at night, and ride horses bareback are due for an unpleasant surprise if they keep at it.

Most of the horses are trained—but three of them are unbroken. And Saanich and Oak Bay police are keeping an eye on the property.

Wednesday night, for the third night in a row, a barbed wire fence was cut and nine horses wandered loose for a short time until Saanich and Oak Bay police rounded them up in the backyard of a private house.

Three valuable horses have been lamed recently through being ridden on bush trails in the dark, Donald Carley, owner of the riding academy, said last night.

An employee hid in bush near the horses until about 9:30 p.m. Wednesday. By the time he returned to the barns a neighbor phoned to report that the horses were loose.

"I had a man go round all the fences that morning, mending them and making them secure," Mr. Carley said.

He said some of the horses are galloped at night by bareback riders, indicating someone who knows how to ride.

"They are going to meet the wrong horse one of these nights," he said.

Court Parade

Ailing Cows To Die

T. Byron MacNutt, 4149 Grange, was found guilty in Saanich police court yesterday of failing to comply with an order under the Animal Contagious Diseases Act.

The order directed the slaughter of three of his cattle, found by test to have brucellosis, an incurable and infectious disease.

Accused was remanded to June 16 for sentence, to give him time to comply "at long last," in the words of prosecutor Lloyd McKenzie, with the order.

Sentence of four months definite and two indefinite in the young offenders' unit, Oakalla, was imposed in Saanich court by Magistrate William Ostler on John Clifford Isherwood, 2450 Lansdowne. Accused had admitted breaking into Mount Douglas High School in June, 1959, and stealing a set of provincial examination papers.

Magistrate Ostler said he had read and considered carefully accused's probation report, and considered the evidence of several character witnesses.

"I have also in mind your youth, background and personal circumstances," said the magistrate. "But I also have in mind the severity of this offence, which was deliberately planned, and the despicable nature of the offence: stealing to cheat and take unfair advantage."

"I cannot feel that a nominal penalty would be sufficient, but would be misguided, and not in either the public's nor your own interest."

"You cannot do things like this and get away with them. You must face the fact that other people will not always get you out of things. You must accept responsibility yourself."

William Johnston, 884 Colville, was fined $25 in the same court when he pleaded guilty to creating a disturbance by fighting, shouting and swearing in a Blenkinsop Road driveway.

The offence occurred about 1 a.m. on May 30.

France Striding With Atoms After Late Start

(Roy Murdock toured industrial regions of France last month.)

By ROY MURDOCK

Electric power means everything to a nation as highly industrialized as France. More credit to the republic, therefore, for what has been accomplished in the generation of power from meagre resources—meagre, that is, from the viewpoint of North Americans given to thinking of large scale development in terms of water power.

Except in the eastern regions in proximity to the Alps, France at present has to rely heavily on thermal power, which makes it fortunate that the country has so much coal.

In the Alpine quadrant spectacular things are being done to harness water. One of the biggest rock-fill dams in the world, if not the biggest, is nearing completion near the peaceful lavender-growing district of Gap, and the power it will deliver into the national grid system will be of great importance.

But ultimately, if not already, French industry is going to need power in quantities beyond the capabilities of conventional sources. Consequently progress in nuclear research is of vast importance to France, as it is to Great Britain where similar conditions prevail.

The political aspect of the republic's adventures in nuclear research has claimed world attention lately because of the explosions set off in the Sahara. The French officials who escorted us on tours of inspection did not bother to defend General de Gaulle's nationalistic determination to show the world what France had accomplished, because obviously they did not think any defence was necessary.

War Stymied Science

They did, however, take a moment to point out the disadvantages under which France has labored in this connection in relation to the clear-cut advances of the United States in particular.

It is not generally appreciated that before 1939 French scientists had made notable discoveries and progress in the field of atomic science, and might easily have been the first to produce an atomic explosion had it not been for the war.

While other nations were free to pursue studies at accelerated pace, France during the next six years had to abandon work in that branch of science. Thus when peace came she had six years of lost time to make up, during a period of general rehabilitation after the German occupation.

Thus the period from 1945 to 1952 had to be devoted to prospecting for nuclear ores, setting up laboratories and training engineers and technicians.

It was the failure of disarmament talks which led the French government to decide to equip its armed forces with nuclear weapons as a contribution to the defence of Europe and the Atlantic alliance.

France's moral right to explode atomic bombs as a demonstration to the world that she was a force to be reckoned with is questionable only insofar as the right of ANY nation to do so is questionable. Certainly she had as much "right" to test atomic weapons as had the United States, Russia or anyone else. In the Western alliance America is least qualified to offer criticism or objection.

Leaving that political question aside, the mission of France's research centres is to prepare for the industrial use of atomic energy through basic research and by perfecting new techniques.

Saclay Research Centre

The Canadian newspaper party visited only one of the four nuclear research centres working under France's Atomic Energy Commission, the 240-acre establishment known as Saclay.

Here, 4,000 scientists and technicians of the AEC's more than 14,000 staff are engaged mainly in preparation for the large-scale production of electric energy from atomic sources, at competitive rates. It was that last objective which caused us to sit up and take notice, because it is generally believed that for a long time to come electricity from nuclear energy will be very costly.

Saclay is a peaceful non-military project, all its endeavors being bent towards peaceful use of atomic power. It has 800 student fellowships, including 200 from outside France. Security measures are barely discernible, and one guesses that they are maintained to prevent sabotage rather than to guard secrets, because students are welcomed from all countries.

As a visitor to France it is easy to be carried away by evidences of scientific progress because they are everywhere, and are startling to say the least. I would be willing to bet, though, that despite France's enforced late start in the field of nuclear power for industry she will not be far behind and may be out in front when that power becomes an economic reality.

If it's a mistake to underestimate the power of a woman it would be just as big a mistake to underestimate the advances made by France in the last few years.

BROCK CHISHOLM
... magic of ancestors

'We Hold Veto Over Humanity'

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — The very existence of the human species is in danger unless people learn to look at reality and think along new lines, the National Conference on Social Welfare was told Wednesday night.

Dr. Brock Chisholm of Victoria, former executive director of the World Health Organization, said "we are the first generation to hold a veto power over human evolution."

But we have no tradition for this job, he added. "It is not part of our previous conscious experience. There is no government which has a department of survival."

Haven't Begun To Think

Discussing the importance of mental health in human survival, Chisholm said people have not begun to really think about this problem.

"Instead we are escaping by calling on some of the magic of our ancestors."

"One of these is conformity. Another magic that people in this country depend on is the Constitution of the United States, which has become a sacred book, but is actually quite obsolete."

Chisholm said the United States Constitution's complicated checks and controls make it impossible to reach a decision quickly. Russian officials, on the other hand, can get a decision from their government by telephone.

Japanese to 'Test' Protests on Hagerty

TOKYO (UPI) — The ultra-leftwing Zengakuren Students Union which has threatened physical violence against President Eisenhower said yesterday it would see that he gets no sleep during his Tokyo visit.

The students, who have demonstrated daily for several weeks against the U.S.-Japanese security treaty, said they have formed a "noise maker" corps to keep Eisenhower awake.

They said they would test their operations Friday on presidential press secretary

James Hagerty and play trumpets off tune and beat drums when he arrives to check arrangements for the presidential visit.

Meanwhile, Premier Nobusuke Kishi said last night he would guarantee the personal safety of President Eisenhower during his visit.

New Ferry Link

THE pioneering run of the B.C. Toll Authority's Mv. Sidney from Tsawwassen to Swartz Bay yesterday in less than a hour and a half gave Victoria and Vancouver an important link in ferry connections between Vancouver Island and the Mainland. For Hon. P. A. Gagliardi, highways minister, it was the fulfilment of a pledge made by the provincial government to provide the service for which both centres were asking and which private enterprise had declined. All credit is due to the government for carrying through with plans which involved construction from scratch of two terminals, two ferries and a good deal of unforeseen difficulty. On June 15 the new route should be open to the public.

Mr. Gagliardi's comment yesterday that this is only a start and that night service on the route may be considered if traffic should warrant it, indicates that the government has no doubts about the success of this venture. Upwards of $10,000,000 has been absorbed in opening the new ferry route, which brings the downtown-to-downtown time between Victoria and Vancouver to little more than three hours with the 18-knot ferries and organized bus transit between. Public use of the ferries will decide the future of the development. From the spirited interest taken in the inauguration of the route in both centres of population that promises well.

From Victoria's standpoint, Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen ferry has already proved to be an important development. A new and faster connection between the capital and Vancouver, catering to passengers and automobiles, was crucially needed. The provincial government's initiative launched a train of events with considerable consequences. The capital city as a result is opening its current tourist season with better tourist and shipping facilities than it has known at any comparable time before. Public ferries, however, must be steadily patronized to succeed; and here the challenge rests with the ferry users.

The B.C. government has certainly done its part and more in a non-stop manner since the idea was promulgated, and for this Victoria will be sincerely grateful.

No Featherbedding

VICTORIA Labor Council has informed the city council of its concern about a proposed reduction in the strength of the civic staff "at a time when unemployment is at such high proportions in this area." Similar protests by labor have been made in other parts of the country to Postmaster-General Hamilton with respect to his plans to introduce more automatic or semi-automatic machines into the process of mail handling, on the ground that the unemployment situation will be aggravated thereby.

In both cases it has been explained that staff retrenchment if there is to be any will be accomplished by a process of abolishing positions rather than discharging persons. Where employees retire or otherwise leave the service, replacement will not be automatic but will be governed by the necessity of the work performed. In the case of the post office department assurance has been given more than once that no one now employed will be hurt; that those whose jobs become redundant will be transferred to fill openings as they occur in other branches.

Even if employees were to be fired, it should not be necessary for either the Dominion or the City to justify its actions. While sudden layoffs or the wiping out of jobs, especially when jobs are scarce, is always distressing it should be pointed out that it is not the function or responsibility of any public body to create or maintain positions just for the sake of providing employment.

In the case of the postmaster-general it is his duty to give the public the best possible mail service. If that can be done cheaper by adopting more modern methods then it is his duty to adopt them, his responsibility being to the taxpayers. Similarly with a local body if adequate service can be given with fewer employees it is the duty of the council to take the necessary steps. Both would expose themselves to legitimate rebuke if they practised featherbedding at public expense.

The Humanitarian Instinct

A WELCOME easement of problems for various types of pensioners seems to be under way. It bespeaks the humanitarian instinct and is good for the national conscience. Early this week the Commons voted to permit old-age security pensioners to live where they please while drawing their pensions; providing only they met the reasonable qualification of 25 years previous stay in Canada. This has long been sought and has been widely approved.

Later, in another move with respect to pensioners, the Commons showed equally fair-minded concern with respect to veterans' allowances. Here also the restriction of compulsory residence in Canada while receiving the allowance is being removed. Recipients of this allowance are those who suffer impairment of some kind and for health reasons it may be necessary that they go abroad. It is kindly and just that no strings be attached to remuneration earned so hardly by war service.

In Victoria the dental society has supplemented these examples by a fine gesture of its own. At their own expense the local dentists will provide free dentures for old-age pensioners who do not qualify for social assistance. This plan has been worked out with the Silver Threads Service and is said to be unprecedented in Canada. It thus reflects great credit on the Victoria dentists, and no doubt the idea will spread elsewhere in B.C. and perhaps across the country.

Initially the concession will involve fitting, supply and repair of dentures, but it is hoped to extend the plan to embrace full dental care for those aged citizens qualifying for treatment. This is a gesture which indicates a feeling of responsibility for the less fortunately placed in their twilight years, and it will be received with gratitude by those benefiting from the service. It is good citizenship operating with charitable intent.

Interpreting the News

Bolivia Steadies Down

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign Editor

A MAN who has been accused both of being a Nazi and a Communist but who still has managed to retain friendship with the United States, is returning as president of Bolivia.

He is Victor Paz Estenssoro, for 20 years a familiar figure on Bolivia's turbulent political scene, who next August will be returning for his second four-year term.

Poverty and instability have not been rare commodities for Latin American governments. But it was left for Bolivia to be described as "the most isolated, the most forgotten and the most tragic country of the American continent." Bolivia is an island more completely cut off from the outside world by its mountains and deserts than if it were surrounded by oceans.

"Bolivia is an Indian country, the most Indian country of the Americas. More than half of its 4,000,000 inhabitants are pure Indian... about 30 per cent of the population are mestizos (mixed blood). The whites form a minority group... the revolts of the Indians in Bolivia have been among the most savage in South America."

As a founder and leader of Bolivia's

Movimiento Nacionalista Revolucionario (MNR) political party, Paz receives much of the credit for what stability Bolivia has.

Even then it is doubtful that any Bolivian regime over the last eight years could have existed without extensive financial help from the United States. That help now is well over $100,000,000.

Bolivia has the highest illiteracy rate in Latin America and, as others among its sister republics, has suffered from its dependence on a single commodity, tin.

In his first term, Paz Estenssoro began strenuous efforts to shift the country's economic base from tin to oil and agriculture.

Under the ambitious program, it was hoped the country would be completely self-sufficient by 1958.

In 1952, Paz nationalized the tin mines and undertook a program of land distribution to peasants.

Nationalization of the mines did not prove particularly successful, and by the time 1958 rolled around, the country was in just as much economic trouble as before. For part of this, Russia was blamed for having dumped tin on the world market, thus depressing prices.

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

It is not easy to be a Canadian or, being one, to have one's country known and identified abroad. George Warren discovered this when his vocational anguish over the misplacing of his favorite city followed him even to London, from whence came the first governor to the embryonic community of this area. There he was introduced to the London Rotary Club as from "Victoria, in the United States of America." The erudite London Times has not been above transferring the capital of B.C. to another place, but I should have thought Londoners would know better than this. Happily the ebullient George quickly righted the geographical perspective and, one hopes, much to the discomfiture of the London club's president. If there is a centre to the Commonwealth wheel the centre at least should know where the spokes reach to.

In these cold war days of course the dominance of the United States and the impact abroad of its entertainment ethos tend to blunt the lines of North America. Probably most Europeans never heard of the 49th Parallel and feel no urge to study the atlas either for recreation or information. Quite likely the foreign mind instinctively regards Canada as a satellite of the U.S.A. and thinks no farther, even though in many respects Britain and Western Europe are fellow-satellites, both defensively and in their absorption of American lore.

A year or so back this writer sat in a British railway carriage and listened to a fellow passenger inform us, after learning we were from Canada, that he had a brother in Canada. It turned out the brother lived in Chicago, which rather suggested our new acquaintance had a very hazy idea of the placements of geography.

In a London literary journal to hand this week there is the same woolly understanding of Canadian life. Pierre Berton's "Klondike" is the subject of discussion by a reviewer, termed an expert on the American frontier, under the caption "On Western Americana." The reviewer seems unaware that the Klondike is in the Yukon Territory of Canada and his comment is spiced by reference to figures like Rex Beach, Jack London, Tex Rickard and other "old faces" of "American frontier history." Some people seem in need of some history lessons.

It always has been difficult for Canada to separate itself from either Britain or America in many outside minds, and perhaps never more so than today. Some Canadians of course tend to spread the impression of oneness with the U.S.A. by a perhaps undue preoccupation with American ways and habits, and by a seeming belief that anything from across the line is automatically superior to its counterpart here. There is a "oneness" that can't be escaped but a little more stress on their own things would benefit their own country.

Thus we have the personable moderator of a CBC panel refer to a guest, Matt Busby, of the touring Manchester United soccer club, as the "Casey Stengel" of English football. Possibly Mr. Busby never heard of Mr. Stengel but if he finds out about this colorful New York Yankee he may go home convinced there is little difference between Canadians and Americans. However, George Warren may have Manchester on his itinerary and if they meet he will be able to remove any misconception. About Victoria, at any rate.

Outcome of the Summit

Return to Private Diplomacy

By RICHARD L. THOMAS

THE winds of change are not blowing only in Africa but in the world of diplomacy. There is increasing evidence that the chancelleries of Europe are veering away from summitry into the more conventional channels of diplomatic negotiation. It may well be that if Mr. Khrushchev does not like it he will have to lump it.

Mr. Khrushchev is not wholly to blame. It has been brewing for a long time and Mr. Khrushchev only sparked the flame which may destroy summitry for ever. A world of are lights and television cameras, a city of journalists, and the battle for the limelight are hardly the conditions conducive to the most intelligent discussion of the world's problems—and international conferences which provide a platform for insults and vitriol throwing are unlikely to lead to peace.

There are a few people who believe that it is a good thing. They compare it with Marble Arch where the crackpots and the wise get together to let off steam, where extremists can be laughed at and deflated without arousing the passions of those who feel that they are oppressed. There is no doubt that domestically the open speech forum has done most to preserve a comparatively peaceful domestic life in Britain. Even a profound anarchist can get it out of his system.

It is argued that the effect on the Russians is similar. As long as they can blow off steam in summitry they are unlikely to let off anarchy bombs in anger, and it is wisest to provide this forum than to suppress it. Against that argument is the fact that it gets us nowhere.

So the trend is back to traditional diplomacy.

No one is suggesting the returning to secret diplomacy in the 18th and 19th century sense when there were secret treaties and secret clauses in otherwise publicized treaties. What is suggested is that agreements should be negotiated in private and the result displayed for public ratification—a very different proposition.

The challenge is a real one inasmuch as it will reveal the true sincerity of the negotiators freed from the competition for headlines or the necessity of carrying public opinion along during the negotiations, and if there is sincerity it should make agreement easier. It avoids the numerous red herrings of public negotiation, the capitalization of misunderstandings and the playing to the gallery of fickle public opinion. It takes nothing from the fundamental democratic privileges because the privately negotiated treaty would have to be ratified and justified in public.

There are plenty of signs in Western Europe that these things are in fact happening. General de Gaulle, for example, a gentleman not averse to limelight or taking an obstructive course to be sure that he was in focus, is more reticent than he was and shows greater appreciation of quiet and less spectacular negotiation. We have seen the trend in Spain and amongst other European countries at the moment at sixes and sevens in their trade agreements. There are portentous moves for greater co-operation and much of the credit must go, unintentionally of course, to Mr. Khrushchev.

Simply put, it means that by over-playing his hand he has welded the cracks in the Western alliance. There is more quiet negotiating going on at the moment than possibly at any time since the war. There are plenty of guesses at what is happening and some probably will be right—but the fact remains that the negotiations are in private. The result will be public.

It could be that we have miscalculated our balances and the key to world peace is more likely to be found in China than in Europe or the United States. There are astute and experienced diplomats who are quite certain that Mr. Khrushchev was more concerned with impressing China than insulting the United States in his last solo summitry effort; that it was more an expression of fear than of strength. Indeed I have heard the Russia Chinese alliance described as the 1960 equivalent of the Russo-German alliance of 1939 and just about as strong. The analogy will not be lost on the student of history or geography.

Vladivostok was Chinese not very long ago. Chinese territorial claims against Russia could be historically justified, and Chinese population is increasing more rapidly than Russian. It is at least debatable whether Russia is not more efficiently contained by fear of China than fear of the West and that her problem is not dissimilar from the German fear of war on two fronts in 1939 and well justified by events.

The United States would doubtless be fearful of summitry on the subject of "Red China," but the diplomatist working in private is more conscious of the realities and possibilities. If summitry has not vanished we can at least be reasonably certain that it will be infinitely less important in the future. It may remain as a gesture, but more and more hard work will be done back stage.

Muscular Fitness

More Exercise in B.C.

(From The Edmonton Journal)

BRITISH COLUMBIA has announced changes in its physical education program for schools which will cut down the proportion of watching done by children, increase their active participation in games and exercises, and give more emphasis to physical fitness.

Putting it plainly, the minister of education said the province's 300,000 students will be doing "more push-ups" in future. The time allocated to physical education is being increased throughout grades 7 to 12. High school lessons in "dating and dancing" will be replaced by physical exercise. The objective is full participation by all students; many games which involve spectators are to be abolished.

The B.C. proposals should be of interest in Alberta and in other provinces. Even more interesting is the theory underlying them. The minister of education, Leslie Peterson, says surveys show that the children's low level of physical fitness is due not so much to deficiencies in physical education programs in the schools as to deficiencies created by a luxurious way of life. A person may be dissatisfied with the school programs and still agree that there is something in Mr. Peterson's view. Many children today spend much time sitting—in automobiles, on the benches watching others play sports, and before the television screen. They are not getting as much exercise as those of even one or two generations ago—and their physical condition shows it.

Mr. Peterson's statements imply that to compensate for the physical deficiencies of modern life, the school program should ensure that all children are given regular physical training. For this purpose, there is no substitute for a basic program of vigorous exercise in which the whole class takes part at one time.

Such a program is economical of space, time, staff and money. Canadian schools have drifted away from exercise and have come to rely heavily on games. Unfortunately, some games, in spite of their value as character-builders and as forms of recreation, give many of the children little exercise during the physical education period. It looks as though B.C. were planning more exercise and fewer games. The shift seems to be required to put Canadian children on the same level as European children in terms of muscular fitness.

Early Morning Mowers

(From The Calgary Albertan)

PEOPLE who disturb the neighborhood by cutting loose with a power mower before the community is properly stirring should take due note of a little court case settled recently in Santa Barbara. The accused, a woman, was arrested on the complaint of neighbors after making an early morning power attack on the lawn, and sentenced to 15 days in jail.

The penalty seems excessive. The court might have confiscated the noisy machinery or ordered the defendant to trim the courthouse lawn with a manicure set.

At any rate, early mornings in Santa Barbara will be quiet for awhile, at least in one neighborhood. Now if that early bird next door right here in Calgary will only keep his power mower under wraps until a civilized hour it won't be necessary to cite the Santa Barbara case as a dire warning.

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

A MANUFACTURER of antiques among my acquaintances is quite indignant over the fact that the federal government does not place a tariff on imported antiques.

"We," he says, "in Canada can produce antiques every bit as good as those pouring in from Britain, France, Italy and other old countries. In fact, our worm holes are far more realistic than the British. I suspect that many of the English antique manufacturers use nothing more than small nails to make the worm holes, whereas we use tiny drills which do a far more workmanlike job."

"And as for Italian antiques, the way we haul heavy chains over the tables and chests, the artistic way we hit them with hammers so as to give that true impression of antiquity and the skill with which we make rings with alcohol to simulate the stains of wine in the galleys of old, are miles ahead of the present day Italian manufacturers. Why, I am told that the big importers of Italian antiques have to put them in storage for a year or more, to let them dry out and fall apart, and then reglue them right here at home."

"With a little protection from cheap European labor in the manufacture of antiques, I maintain we Canadians could build up an antique industry every bit as prosperous as that in the old countries; and equally competent at fooling the public."

Letters to the Editor

Place of Science

Under the title "Science and Humanities," The Daily Colonist has published an article that appeared in the Edmonton Journal some time after the university convocation. In this commentary on my address to the graduating students, I am quoted as having said: "The reign of the scientist is coming to an end." Nothing could be further from my thought; and this reminds me of the word of Voltaire: "Give me the letter of any individual and I can have him hanged."

In my address I had said that it would be too long to enumerate the great services that science has rendered to humanity. I do believe that these services will still prove greater in the future; for instance, I do believe that the scourge of our time, cancer, will soon be conquered. I also believe that on the problem of feeding an explosive population, science will play the leading role. Such great achievements would not indicate any loss of prestige on the part of the scientist; on the contrary.

Using a figure of speech, I had said: "In today's society, the technician is the king, but his reign will pass"; which, expressed in simpler terms, meant that the extraordinary pre-eminence of scientific studies, to the detriment of the studies called humanities, is a passing phase, a phase partly due to the prospect of a third war in which the question of armaments will be of supreme importance. Already a reaction in favor of the humanities can be observed in Europe.

At a time when we are constantly told that our civilization is in great danger and that we are faced with "la grande catastrophe finale," one problem dominates all the others, the problem of our survival; and salvation can only come through a change in the evil side of the nature of man. Such a change, if it ever occurs, will not come out of scientific discoveries but through the voice and wisdom of a great statesman, a great philosopher or a great new prophet.

St. Michael's School

There have been many inquiries regarding the liquidation of St. Michael's School Ltd.

Last September, the St. Michael's School Society took over the operation of St. Michael's School from St. Michael's Limited. As the limited company has now no purpose, it is in the process of voluntary liquidation.

It is St. Michael's School Limited not St. Michael's School that is being liquidated.

Toasting the Queen

I see there is a controversy in the papers about drinking the Queen's health in water.

From my own personal experience in 1898 as an officer in the Royal Marine Light Infantry in training at the Royal Naval College, Greenwich, England, at dinner every evening we drank the health of Queen Victoria, and if we did not drink it in mine, we were allowed to drink it in coffee, never in water.

On ordinary nights we drank it sitting but on Thursdays, which were guest nights, it was a regular rule to drink standing, and the toast proposed by the president of the mess was always "Gentlemen, the Queen, God Bless Her."

'Follow the Birds' Dead-Duck Slogan

WILLIAM E. HAWKINS

Troops Fight Nude Sect

JAKARTA, Indonesia (Reuters)—Twenty-six persons died in a clash between troops and a nude religious sect in a village near Bandung last week.

An officer went to investigate but the nude worshippers attacked him with bamboo spears. The officer escaped.

The "birds" which some 11,000,000 tourists "followed" to Victoria for 38 years are about to become dead ducks.

"Follow the Birds to Victoria" is scheduled to go the way of the carrier pigeon—to extinction.

Victoria and Island Tourist Commissioner William E. Hawkins said yesterday that the world-famous tourist slogan coined by former commissioner George I. Warren in 1922 is being replaced because it fails to "sell" the whole island.

"TREASURE ISLAND"

Replacing the Victoria byword suggested by the large number of seagulls which follow incoming boats will be "Victoria—Gateway to Canada's Treasure Island."

"I think we needed a new look," Mr. Hawkins told the Colonist yesterday.

He said that a slogan placing more emphasis upon the rest of Vancouver Island was "long overdue."

AT MALAHAT

"Previously our support of the island stopped at the Malahat," he added.

Mr. Warren's follow-the-birds slogan, which appears widely throughout the U.S., had an inauspicious beginning when it was first used in the form of a billboard in Vancouver in 1922.

The sign carried not only the slogan, but a terse little message whose accuracy failed to entertain Vancouverites.

GEORGE I. WARREN

The message, "more sunshine—less rain" cast a shadow over relations between Victoria and Vancouver tourist officials which exists to this day.

NEW SLOGAN

The new "Treasure Island" slogan is the salient window dressing on a "hard sell" campaign which may bring 400,000 visitors to the island this year—an increase of 100,000 to 150,000 over last year.

Mr. Hawkins said yesterday that signs of a bumper tourist season are already in hand in the form of a 60-per-cent increase in the number of pre-season inquiries.

MUNICIPALITY OF VICTORIA
BY-LAW

WHEREAS it is enacted by Section 50 of the "Municipalities Enabling and Validating Act," being Chapter 36 of the Statutes of British Columbia, 1948, as amended by the "Municipalities Enabling and Validating Act," 1960 that the Council of The Corporation of the City of Victoria, in order to make provision for the public parking of vehicles, may, by-law adopted by an affirmative vote of at least two-thirds of all the members thereof, construct the works and do the other acts and things hereinafter described, including the improvement of a portion of View and Broad Streets in the said City, by the construction of mails and boulevards therein and thereon.

AND WHEREAS the said Council desires it expedient to construct the said works and do the said other acts and things;

AND WHEREAS the estimated cost of the said works and improvements, including the cost of acquisition of any and all real property deemed by the said Council to be desirable or expedient for or in connection therewith is ONE MILLION DOLLARS ($1,000,000.00) and it is deemed expedient to borrow said sum of ONE MILLION DOLLARS ($1,000,000.00) which is the amount of the debt intended to be created by this by-law;

AND WHEREAS the lifetime of the said works and improvements is not less than twenty-five (25) years and the amount of the aforesaid debt is repayable within the term of the said by-law;

AND WHEREAS the assessed value for general municipal purposes of the taxable land and improvements within the municipality for the current year and for each of the two years immediately preceding the year in which the aforesaid debt is to be created is as follows:

1958 — $10,381,307.00
1959 — $11,454,068.00

AND WHEREAS the Corporation does not possess a subsisting certificate of self-liquidation granted by the Inspector of Municipalities in respect of any utility system or other municipal enterprise;

AND WHEREAS the amount of the existing debt of the Corporation is TEN MILLION FIFTY-FIVE THOUSAND TWO HUNDRED THIRTY-THREE DOLLARS AND THIRTY-SEVEN CENTS ($10,555,233.37) and there is no principal or interest in arrears;

AND WHEREAS this by-law has received the approval of the Inspector of Municipalities pursuant to Section 233 of the "Municipal Act," and shall before the final adoption thereof receive the assent of the owner-electors in the manner provided by Division (2) of Part V of the said "Municipal Act";

AND WHEREAS the Corporation may not issue or sell the debentures authorized by this by-law except with the approval of the Lieutenant-Governor in Council given upon the recommendation of the Minister of Municipal Affairs pursuant to the Victoria City Debt Refunding Act of 1957 and 1964 and no debentures are to be issued or sold under this by-law unless and until such approval is obtained;

NOW THEREFORE the Municipal Council of The Corporation of the City of Victoria enacts as follows:

1. In order to make provision for the public parking of vehicles there shall be constructed and maintained on, along, across and over View Street, between Douglas and Blanshard Streets, in the City of Victoria, a four-deck elevated ramp-type carpark structure with an approximate capacity of four hundred (400) motor-vehicles together with such ramps, stairways, escalators and other works as may be deemed expedient or desirable for such purpose, including a pedestrian mall on the said View Street extending from the aforesaid carpark in a westerly direction to the aforesaid Douglas Street and from the aforesaid Douglas Street to Broad Street, in the said City, and thence in a southerly direction along the said Broad Street for a part of the distance towards Port Street, in the said City, all in accordance with the recommendations of the City Engineer, as contained in the report of the City Engineer entitled "Report on the Development of Downtown Parking" and dated October 29, 1958, as modified by the City Engineer's Report entitled "Recommendation of the Downtown Improvement Plan" dated January 12, 1960, and a further report from the City Engineer dated March 22, 1960, and the illustrations, plans and diagrams submitted to the Council at its meeting held February 11, 1960.

2. With the object and for the purpose of providing the aforesaid works and improvements and of acquiring such real and personal property which may, by Council, be deemed necessary or expedient for or in connection therewith, there shall be borrowed on the credit of The Corporation of the City of Victoria at large the sum of ONE MILLION DOLLARS ($1,000,000.00) and debentures shall be issued therefor in sums of not less than FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS ($500.00) each and bearing interest payable half-yearly at a rate of six per centum (6%) per annum and having coupons attached thereto for the payment of interest as aforesaid.

3. (a) Subject to this by-law and the above-recited "Municipal Act" the terms and conditions of the said debentures shall provide that payments by way of interest on principal are to be made semi-annually and payments in repayment of principal are to be made by annual instalments during the currency of the said debentures the specific sum to be provided in each year during the currency of the debentures for the payment of the interest and the specific sum to be provided in each year for the payment of the instalment of the principal being hereby settled in the respective sums set out in Schedule "A" hereto which Schedule shall be read with and form part of this by-law.

(b) The said debentures shall all bear the same date which date shall be a date within two (2) years after the date on which this by-law is adopted to be determined by resolution of the Council.

4. The said debentures as to both principal and interest shall be expressed in lawful money of Canada and shall be made payable in such money at the principal office of the Bank of Montreal in any of the Cities of Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Vancouver or Victoria in Canada at the option of the holder thereof.

Chinese Immigrant Fibbers Won't Be Tried or Deported

Overseas Job Ads Scored

OTTAWA (CP) — Harold Winch (CCF, Vancouver East) accused the immigration department yesterday of "bare-faced misrepresentation" in advertising abroad that there are trade vacancies to be filled in Canada.

"It passeth all comprehension," he told the Commons.

One such ad invited carpenters, painters and electricians to emigrate to Canada. Yet, Mr. Winch said, in Vancouver alone more than half the men in those trades are unemployed, and some have been without work for almost a year.

OTTAWA (CP) — Immigration Minister Fairclough said yesterday Chinese who entered Canada illegally on the basis of giving incorrect information about their family status will not be prosecuted or deported.

She also said in a policy statement in the Commons that it is not the government's intention to prosecute or deport any Chinese who were engaged in assisting the illegal entry of members of their own family.

However, she appealed to any Chinese who entered the country on the basis of incorrect information about their family status to come forward so that the immigration department can "regularize their entry."

If they do not, she said, they will always be left in a state of uncertainty about their status.

Mrs. Fairclough said that in making this policy statement about the current RCMP investigation into alleged Chinese entries, she was taking the advice of J. W. Pickersgill

(L. Bonavista - Twillingate), who had asked earlier in the day that she state categorically that relatives of Chinese Canadians need not fear deportation.

Mr. Pickersgill commented that he believes Mrs. Fairclough acted wisely in placing the government's attitude on the record.

Jung Sad At 'Cloud'

OTTAWA (CP) — Douglas Jung said he was saddened that some members of his race "brought all the Chinese communities under a cloud of suspicion."

He offered to make representations on behalf of Chinese who want to have their entry "regularized."

Tories 'Continue' Liberal Policy

OTTAWA (CP) — Federal policy is to admit to Canada only those immigrants who can be integrated socially and economically, Immigration Minister Fairclough said yesterday.

"Obviously, we cannot simply go ahead and bring to this country everyone who may wish to migrate, without regard to possible effects on our Canadian people or on the immigrants themselves," she said.

J. W. Pickersgill, former immigration minister, said this policy is exactly the same as that given in May, 1947, by former Liberal Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

"Yet, he said, while he was in office he was subject to "harsh, and indeed, brutal criticism" especially by Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Justice Minister Fulton.

'Souvenirs' Stripped From Plane Wreck

and then adjoined after the body had been viewed.

Creed fell 80 feet to his death in the tragedy. He was a nephew of Cecil Rawlings and was helping in the search.

Funeral services will be held from McCall Brothers chapel, 1400 Vancouver Street, at 3 p.m. Saturday with Rev. Dr. A. K. McMillan officiating. Cremation will follow.

Criticism of acts that led to confusion, according to informed people, has centred around these reports:

● Although the first ground party into the area reached the wreck about 10:30 a.m. last Saturday no organized search for the missing Rawlings was made until almost 24 hours later.

● At the same time, some next-of-kin were not officially informed of what the search party had found until almost 12 hours later.

● When the hunt for Rawlings did begin in earnest, so many searchers were sent into the crash scene that they destroyed possible clues and followed each others' tracks in a confusing merry-go-round.

● When evidence which could have been left by the missing man was found its location was often wrongly reported and new search parties were sent to wrong areas on wild goose chases.

● A film in a camera found Sunday, and identified as belonging to Rawlings, was taken to Toronto for processing because officials did not want to "ruin" the color prints. This film could have been processed in Victoria or Vancouver, although there was no guarantee the color would not eventually fade. This has caused at least a 48-hour delay, at a time when a shot of the crash could have proven that Rawlings escaped alive. (Yesterday, a Toronto report said rain had ruined the film.)

● Communications between the base camp at Nadira mines and the over-all search-master in Vancouver, have been virtually non-existent since the discovery of the wreck.

● Reports soon after the plane disappeared, of a thunderous explosion at the northern end of Nitinat Lake, were never fully checked out at the time, and searching aircraft were deployed to other areas.

● RCAF search and rescue officials in Vancouver on May 31 were still acting on information that the Seabee had taken off from Victoria on the morning of May 30, when it was common knowledge here that it had taken off on the morning of May 29.

● Perhaps the most extraordinary aspect of the hunt has been the extreme pains some arms of the search force has used to throw up a wall of secrecy when anything of a definite nature occurs. There has been no reluctance to impart information of a minor nature but as soon as a new clue is found or some important happening occurs great pains have been taken to keep the facts a secret, even to the point of ordering "all civilians" from the base camp. This happened on Saturday, when the first group arrived at the crash site, and the fact that there was only one body in the wreckage was kept secret for another 12 hours.

This happened again on Tuesday when the death of Claude Creed occurred. News of the widespread "souvenir-ing"—which took place several days ago—was not released until last night and then only under pressure, and the announcement of the shoe tongue came more than two days after it had been found.

The famed Pony Express covering nearly 2,000 miles between California and St. Joseph, Mo., started in 1860.

Lumber Men Doubt It

Fair Rate Setup?

OTTAWA (CP) — British Columbia's lumber industry has its doubts about the B.C. government's plan to force Canadian railways to set freight rates on a cost-oriented basis.

This was made clear Thursday before the MacPherson royal commission on transportation in a letter sent to B.C. Attorney-General Robert Bonner by J. R. Nicholson, president of the Council of the Forest Industry of British Columbia.

It said many experienced traffic officers employed by B.C. lumber firms "are worried about the practical application" of a freight rate theory based on the cost of handling individual shipments.

"These experts have even more serious doubts as to whether a strict application of such a concept will result in lower rates to shippers of lumber and lumber products from the coastal region," the letter said.

Britain, where golf had its birthplace in Scotland, now has about 1,600 golf courses.

Mystery Of Chairs

CALGARY (CP) — Eighteen plush new executive chairs are in Calgary's City Hall council chambers and nobody knows where they came from.

Executive chairs run from $200 to $500 each.

The city clerk and purchasing agent were bewildered.

Anyway, said Mayor Harry Hays, the old ones were "falling to pieces."

Little Old Lady Killer?

Parking Tickets Rationed

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Things will be a little easier on motorists in Tampa until July 1. The city is running out of parking tickets and must ration them.

Phil Gruber, violations bureau director, said a shipment of 100,000 overtime parking notices won't arrive until next month.

RHYL, Wales (Reuters) — A little old lady appeared in court yesterday charged with the 1940 murder of one of her boarders—whose mummified body was found in a cupboard only five weeks ago.

Mrs. Sarah Harvey, a 65-year-old widow, was committed for trial after a 10-minute hearing at the nearby village of Prestatyn. Her adult son, who discovered the body, was present.

Mrs. Harvey, about five feet tall, grey-haired and wearing spectacles, made no reply to the charges.

"I deny the charge," a policeman quoted her as saying when she was arrested this morning.

She was accused of murdering Mrs. Frances Alice Knight, 29, sometime in early 1940.

She also was charged with two counts of fraud—obtaining £2 from the Rhyll magistrate's office on two occasions in 1940 by falsely pretending her 50-year-old boarder was still alive.

Mrs. Knight's body was found May 5 by Mrs. Harvey's 29-year-old son Leslie while he was redecorating the boarding house as a surprise for his mother while she was in the hospital.

"While working on the papered-over cupboard he saw a human foot. He looked further inside the cupboard and discovered the preserved body."

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — Roman Catholic Bishop Fergus O'Grady of Prince Rupert Diocese announced Wednesday that work has started on a 1,500-acre church educational project here which will include a high school and a junior college offering university courses.

The bishop said it is hoped accommodation will be available in September for 240 students.

Case of C.O.D. Corpse Grows More Puzzling

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — The case of the C.O.D. corpse found in a trunk Tuesday at Argentinia, Nfld., grew more puzzling Thursday as police in two provinces continued to sift through scant clues.

After three days of investigation, slowed by a lead that turned into a dead-end when the supposed victim, Mrs. Frances Njegovan, showed up alive, police here and in Toronto weren't even sure whether the peroxide blonde had been murdered or had died of natural causes.

In Toronto, from where the trunk was shipped collect May 4, detectives said they have located an express agent who remembers handling a trunk which arrived the same day as the one which contained the body.

The agent's name was being withheld by police.

The body was found Tuesday by a CNR express agent at Argentinia, a naval base about 90 miles from here. Thomas Donovan, a 15-year veteran railroader, opened the trunk because of a peculiar smell.

Doctors, who examined the body here, placed the dead woman's age at 35. She wore false teeth and had an old fracture in the right leg above the ankle.

Youth Worker Lured Victim to Beating

WINNIPEG (CP) — The organizer of a downtown Winnipeg teen-canteen was sentenced to jail for 18 months Thursday for luring a man into a dark alley so companions could beat and rob him.

Kathleen Margaret Odger, 21, became a familiar figure at city hall about three years ago when she led a delegation of teenagers into the mayor's office to demand improved recreational facilities.

Court was told she persuaded Keith Lewis of Moberly, Ont.,

to go with her to purchase cigars. As they returned through a back alley, Lewis was attacked by two men, who hit him on the head with a beer bottle and kicked him.

U.S. Extends Reduction In Bank Rate

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

The Bank of Canada rediscount rate burst through its rediscount low of last month, and dropped to its lowest point since October, 1958, when it was quoted yesterday at 2.90 per cent.

This was a drop of .27 per cent from last week's 3.17 per cent, and down .02 per cent from the 2.92 per cent established on May 12.

Last time the bank's rediscount rate went below this level was on October 23, when it was 2.73 per cent.

The immediate effect was to strengthen the long and short term Canadian bond markets. The recently issued 5 1/2 per cent extendable bonds of various maturities all rose to new highs with the 1962 maturity trading up to 103 1/2.

Dealers expect the demand for bonds of all maturities to strengthen further. Supply is light, and recent new offerings have been well subscribed.

The new St. Lawrence Corporation 6 1/2 per cent of 1960 was a good example. Institutional buyers alone were reported to have asked for more than $16,000,000 of the total offering of $15,000,000.

BIG DEAL FOR CNR
By purchase of four trucking companies with operations in seven Canadian provinces, Canadian National Railways has increased its highway service over an additional 15,000 miles of Canadian roads.

Firms purchased by Canadian National Transportation Ltd., CNR's highway transport arm are East-West Transport with 140 units plying between Vancouver and Toronto; Emire Freightways Ltd., with 115 units, serving Saskatchewan and part of Manitoba; Eastern Transport Ltd., of 60 units headquartered at Sydney, N.S., and similarly sized Eastern Transport Ltd., of Halifax.

C.N. Transportation has also taken an option on Midland Superior Express Ltd., which operates between Alberta points and Montreal.

None of the firms purchased operates on Vancouver Island, although various local firms have private agreements with East-West Transport to handle freights consigned to the Island.

J. J. MacMillan, executive vice-president of CNR said the move was made to establish for CNR a first-class coordinated system of land transport throughout Canada.

"Basically we regard the truck as the best instrument for retailing transport services, and the railway for wholesaling," said Mr. MacMillan.

Mr. MacMillan added that CNR had attained its highway objectives by purchasing existing organizations rather than by starting out on its own and thus creating an undesirable surplus to the total transport facilities.

He stated that CNR had also acquired a well-seasoned and experienced truck management team.

AUTO AT FAULT
The automobile is at the root of the multi-problems of the public transit business in Canada, according to H. L. Purdy executive vice-president of B.C. Electric.

Speaking to members of the Canadian Transit Association in Edmonton this week, Mr. Purdy said "public transit will be ridden long after the automobile is forgotten—but, apparently, not till then."

At the same time Mr. Purdy pointed out that public transit was extremely important, and International Nickel led mines lower with a drop of 1/2 at 53 1/2. Labrador was off 1/2 at 19 1/2, and Mining Corporation of Canada was off 1/2 at 10 1/2.

Bid to Balance Trade Loses Its Momentum

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's push towards narrowing its big trade deficit made slow progress in April after a promising start in the first three months of the year.

The country had a $108,300,000 deficit in April, buying that much more from other countries than it exported, the bureau of statistics reported Thursday.

This was a slight decline from the $115,200,000 deficit a year earlier.

The picture for the January-April period as a whole was brighter, with a trade deficit of $145,400,000 as against $281,400,000 a year earlier, thanks to a sharp upswing in exports in the first quarter of this year.

In April, however, both exports and imports declined from the 1959 levels. Imports fell 7.8 per cent to $177,000,000 from $191,000,000 in April last year. Exports declined 8.3 per cent to $368,800,000 from $402,400,000.

LATE EASTER
The bureau said one factor in these declines may have been the fact that Easter fell in April this year, whereas last year it was in March.

For the first four months of the year exports were still well ahead of last year's marks: up 14.2 per cent to $1,660,400,000 from $1,453,700,000. Imports for the period were 4.1 per cent higher at $1,805,800,000 as against $1,735,100,000.

In the January-April period Canada had a $287,800,000 deficit in trade with the United States.

Saanich Fish Derby Aids Creed Memorial

By ALEC MERRIMAN

Saanich Inlet Boatmen's Association is busy arranging a fishing derby, the proceeds of which will help create a memorial to the late Jim Creed, popular 23-year-old Brentwood fishing guide who was killed Tuesday when the cable broke while he was being lifted to a helicopter during the search for his missing uncle, Cec Rawlings.

Jim Gilbert is making most of the arrangements for the derby which is tentatively scheduled for June 19, but the date still could be changed. Jim has already lined up 13 merchandise prizes and is still going strong.

Saltwater fishing is fair everywhere on the island, but is not reported as hot anywhere. Fishermen in the Greater Victoria area are poised with expectancy, waiting for that big run of heavy springs which hit these waters about this time of the year, usually a little earlier than now.

No run has been reported off Sooke as yet, but at Pedder Bay there have been some big fish weighed in and commercial fishermen have been doing well in the Race Rocks, Swirl Bay waters. Oak Bay fishing started off hot last weekend, but tapered off later in the week. The big springs could easily show up there again this weekend.

GOOD SPRINGS

There have been some good-sized springs caught in Saanich Inlet this week, both at the Goldstream and Brentwood ends. Bud Blackburn reports fishing slow, but what are being caught average 10 pounds. There has been a fair showing of jack springs and minnows and herring strip have proved most productive.

Anglers are using 150 to 200 feet of line with six to eight ounces of weight and McKenzie Bay, Willis Point, the Stone House, the Boulder and the Narrows are all producing fish. Cole Bay has slowed down a little.

In mid-island regions, from Nanaimo to Deep Bay a northwester has been blowing for the last couple of days making fishing difficult. Those who have ventured out have been getting coho. Commercial trawlers have been working off Qualicum for a day or two and may have broken up the coho run that has been in there for about three weeks.

Blueback fishing was good at Comox, off the bell buoy, last weekend and George Bates reports good blueback fishing from Cape Lazo up to Campbell River. He says off Bates Beach it has been pretty good for spring salmon with a 29.9-pounder and other good springs caught Wednesday.

Rita Cosby of Fernsall Camp at Campbell River reports O. E. Clarkson of Visalia, Calif., was first boat in with a limit of coho from 5 to 5½ pounds. Dr. J. Petray and Ted Pockrandt followed with coho limits.

FEW SPRINGS

Bluebacks have disappeared from the Povler Pass and Crofton waters, but a few springs have shown up off Tent Island.

Activity, while still brisk, is slowing down on the freshwater scene as anglers turn to the saltwater as the weather becomes warmer and less windy.

Ladysmith and District Fish and Game Association is sponsoring a "Dutch treat" weekend fishing and camping expedition to Butte Lake this weekend. Families are invited to take along their own boats, tackle and camping gear. Cars will assemble at the agricultural hall on Symonds Street at 6 p.m. tonight.

HOT FISHING

Victorians Frank and Jessie McGrath and Bill and Dot Simms report hot fishing at Spirit Lake in the Sayward district where they limited on cutthroat trout. They also did well at Farewell Bend.

Lt. Cmdr. Joseph Beatty, found fishing on Quinsam Lake, in the Courtenay area 165 miles from Victoria, "fabulous" last weekend. His party caught 36 fish in an hour at the spot where the river enters the lake. They went from 17 inches to 10 inches in length.

On the freshwater scene Shawnigan Lake is still fair on gang troll. Cowichan River is spotty, Dougans is good as are Quamichan and Somenos Lakes. All trout streams and lakes in the Alberni area are producing well and 619 cutthroat and rainbow were taken out of the Ash River logging area (permits only to company employees and fish and game club members) last Saturday. A few steelhead have shown in the Browns River area.

The Chemainus River is producing steelhead from below the Island Highway bridge.

The hometown rooters, of course, will speed along with Simpson, Corky Thomas and Bob Mawle. Simpson, top Canadian point winner on the Pacific Northwest circuit for the past three years, holds the track record at Nanaimo.

Should Saturday's meet be cancelled because of weather, the big car meet will be rescheduled for Sunday afternoon, starting at 2 p.m.

Hal Has Problems Facing Buckaroos

By LARRY ROSE

Hockey season is almost five months away but already Hal Laycoe has problems as he prepares to take over as coach of the newest entry in the Western League, the Portland Buckaroos.

To start with, Laycoe has eight players under his direction who are presently owned by the Portland club.

Arlo Goodwin, Pete Wright, Arnie Schmutz, Art Jones, Gordon Fashway, Ron Mathews, Fred Creighton and goaltender Reno Zanier are the players.

More players will be assigned to the Portland team before the season starts, but from where, one can only guess.

The eight players owned by Portland are all established professionals—with the exception of Zanier who played in the Western League with New Westminster in 1958-59 and whether he will play.

then with senior amateur Fort Wayne, Ind., last season in the International League.

Portland bought the players and the New Westminster franchise last year.

On the surface, they form the nucleus of a sound team. Looking further, however, Laycoe may not even have the eight players at his training camp next fall.

Goodwin is presently recovering from operations on both shoulders. The operations were performed in Goodwin's home town of Saskatoon and the doctor there has advised Laycoe that the scrappy left-winger may not be able to play until next January.

Schmutz is still recovering from a fractured skull he received last season. He is presently working in Portland and while it looks like he will play next season, nothing is definite. Schmutz's hearing is impaired, although that will be the Western League with New Westminster in 1958-59 and whether he will play.

Wright has been talking re-freshway and Jones, Zanier and Creighton have all indicated they will make the move to Portland.

Zanier could be a question mark as he has played only half a season of professional hockey.

Creighton has never been a stand-out defenceman and could be another question mark.

So, Laycoe can count definitely on just Fashway, now 34, and Jones.

It may be June, but Hal is fretting already.

Odorous Isolation Won By Whale-Ripe Dockers

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE, England (AP) — Twenty-four odorous dockers, who went on strike because they don't smell so sweet, won their point Thursday and resumed unloading a whaling ship. The dockers struck to emphasize their demand for a private bus to take them about 10 miles from the city to the ship. They said it was embarrassing to ride on public buses because other passengers wrinkled up their noses and opened windows. Whale smells clung to the dockers' clothing. Employers agreed to provide a special bus, and now tranquility has been restored.

Pentagon 'Killed' Summit

LONDON — Nova Scotia-born industrialist Cyrus Eaton wound up his current European tour yesterday with a blast at "powerful government influences in the United States" which he blamed for the failure of last month's summit conference in Paris. "I feel there was a fair meeting of minds at Camp David which might have had some good result," he said, referring to the talks between President Eisenhower and Premier Khrushchev in Maryland last year. "But right after that meeting the forces in the United States opposed to any meeting of minds became very vocal indeed in their hostility to the summit meeting," he said. They kept up a fire of constant predictions that nothing could come of it.

CHICAGO — The Chicago Tribune says Senator John Kennedy and Adlai Stevenson are reported to have agreed to combine forces for the Democratic presidential nomination. Stevenson denied that such an agreement has been made.

KINGSTON, Ont. — Professor Terence Quatler of the University of Saskatchewan says "in any democracy the volume of propaganda is likely to be greater than that in any dictatorship of comparable size."

STOCKHOLM, Sweden — Prince Carl Bernadotte, a cousin of King Gustav Adolf, and his second wife, Princess Anna, have obtained a legal separation.

OTTAWA — Atomic energy chief J. L. Gray says that Russia is not ahead of Canada or the United States in the design and operation of nuclear power plants.

MONTREAL — A local radio station has offered Gina Lollobrigida and her family a one-week stay in Montreal to give her a chance to get to like this city before settling definitely in Toronto.

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — Boston University theology student R. Edwin King, 23, was sentenced to 10 days in jail after he and a Negro tried to eat together in a Montgomery hotel coffee shop.

TROY, Ill. — Dr. Barbara Moore says she hopes to reach New York City in about 12 days to wind up her cross-country hike.

WASHINGTON — Congressman Charles Porter quoted leading Soviet writer Ilya Ehrenburg as forecasting that U.S. pilot Francis Powers will draw a "nominal" prison sentence for spying or be sent back immediately to the United States.

LIVERPOOL, England — A white-robed Canadian preacher who calls himself John Jesus has been refused admission to Britain.

WASHINGTON — Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney says that further testing needs to be done to prove the safety and effectiveness of so-called "live" polio vaccine which can be taken by mouth.

CHICAGO — Dr. E. Vincent Askey, next president of the American Medical Association, says fatness is the nation's greatest health problem.

CHICAGO — Tommy (The Terrible) Touhy, who tore through the roaring '20s with his bootlegger brother, Roger, at one side and a small bottle of nitro at the other, died of natural causes.

ALBANY, N.Y. — Tammany Hall boss Carmine De Sapio suffered a setback when Democratic reformers, defeated three organization-backed candidates in Manhattan's west side.

Appeal Court Restrains Deportation of City Native

The U.S. Court of Appeals in San Francisco has made an order restraining the deportation of Victoria-born Mrs. Hazel Anna Wolf, 62, of Seattle to England on grounds she was a member of the Communist party in 1939.

Mrs. Wolf, an American citizen who has lived in the U.S. for 40 years, has carried on an 11-year battle to avoid deportation. Two years ago Canada refused to authorize her return here but subsequently England agreed to take her.

When Natives Rule Congo—South Africa Haven

JOHANNESBURG (UPI)—South Africa is considering air-lifting in white settlers who want to leave the Belgian Congo before its new native government takes over, government sources said yesterday.

Premier Hendrik Verwoerd met with his cabinet for the first time since the attempt on his life April 9. The sources said the airlift was the main topic on the agenda.

Belgium will grant independence to the Congo June 30 and thousands of white Europeans have been reported fleeing there in fear of reprisals when a native government takes over.

Another potential source of refugees is Kenya, a British colony now well on the road to an African-dominated government.

South Africa could solve two problems by helping the refugees come here, observers said.

shuffle was aimed at "shaking ter balance" between the traditional certain elements which tionally Afrikaans and English-softened during the recent dis-lush-speaking sections of the turbances and to achieve a bet country.

The country would gain badly-needed immigrants, and they would be persons likely to favor Verwoerd's apartheid policy of strict segregation.

The move would show world opinion that many whites in other parts of Africa believe apartheid — separation of races — is the right solution to the racial problems of Africa.

Meanwhile, Prime Minister Verwoerd was reported to be planning a major cabinet reshuffle to insure himself of 100-per-cent support.

The newspaper Rand Daily Mail reported that the action was being taken in the face of crises "which in the absence of any change in basic policy almost certainly lie ahead."

The report said the re-

Teriganiatsiangitut. Eh!

Arctic Chit-Chat Made Easier by Eskimo Grammar

OTTAWA (CP)—Pirskirka department and compiled by taktokokio. Really? Teriganiatsiangitut. Oh! So much for some Arctic blizzards in the winter, and social chit-chat courtesy of an "They are not catching many Eskimo grammar just pub-foxes." lished by the northern affairs Some others: Okongmik

(oh, the heat!). Natsitsiang: central and eastern Arctic mik (what a lot of seals) and dialects and includes 71 les. Unagulul (this annoying little sons on how to speak Eskimo. With the influx of the miner, the construction worker goes far beyond the trader, the RCMP officer, doctors and in English. His work covers government workers, he suggests. But it does not pretend to be a complete work even for one dialect. His vocabulary ranges from Aklavik (zipper) to Siktaktok (zipper). It concentrates on the day-to-day work of the north—animals, grub, trail talk and weather.

Arrested Boat to Be Sold For Non-Payment of Bills

Sitting in the first such case Smith has ordered the sale of In Victoria for 20 years, Dis-a 29-foot, pleasure-fishing trict Admiralty Judge Sidney craft for non-payment of repair and supply bills.

The craft is the Dona IV, now tied up and "under arrest" at a local shipyard. Action was brought by three shipping firms after the owner, Dennis Boudreau, formerly of 108 Moss, had defaulted on payment of the bills, totalling about $809.

Hearing was set by the admiralty division of the Exchequer Court of Canada, and took place in the Victoria courthouse. Mr. Boudreau did not appear, and the case was undefended.

The court's ruling was that the Dona IV be sold at auction and the proceeds used to pay the bills, with any balance going into the court.

If no sale results, the judge directed that the marshal of the Admiralty Court of British Columbia—Eric Wilkinson—"sell the vessel in the best possible manner."

Mr. Wilkinson said the auction has been set for July 15 at 2 p.m. at McKay-Cornack's yard at 130 Kingston, where the boat is tied up. Her value has been estimated at between $2,000 and $3,000.

Nikita Embroiled In Faction Fight?

LONDON (UPI)—Nikita Khrushchev is embroiled in an intense policy struggle with Kremlin factions and is battling to justify his summit-wrecking policies, neutral diplomats said yesterday.

The Soviet premier's truculence in recent days and his chip-on-the-shoulder attitude toward the United States were attributed to the internal situation.

There was no question that he was on the way out. There is no single personality in the Kremlin now who could be considered a serious rival to Khrushchev. The UPI informant said the quarrel behind the walls on Red Square does not bear the familiar markings of the Stalin purge era.

The neutral diplomats reported this lineup in the Kremlin dispute: One group is composed of those who disapproved of Khrushchev's co-existence policy, the hard-core Stalinists, some army men and the supporters of Communist China's get-tough policy. This group opposes close fraternization with the west and is partly responsible for torpedoing the summit in Paris last month.

The other group is composed of the more moderate element which favors co-existence with the West and is showing signs of uneasiness over Khrushchev's attacks on the United States and President Eisenhower.

Khrushchev at present would seem to be leaning toward the Old-Guard tough approach. He apparently is smarting under implicit charges from associates that he misjudged American policy and allowed himself to be "taken in" by Eisenhower.

Colonist King Fisherman

Big Springs Lurking Off Victoria Waters

A 28-pound, six-ounce spring, caught by R. C. Ryves of Saxe Point on a Tom Mack spoon leads today's entries in The Daily Colonist King Fisherman contest and proves the big springs are lurking off Victoria waters.

Coho salmon in good numbers have arrived in the Courtenay to Campbell River area and fishing generally is improving all over the Island. Entries in the Colonist King Fisherman contest are stepping up to a fast pace now and every fish entered by a Colonist subscriber gives the entrant another chance to win the all-expense-paid two-week trip to Acapulco via Canadian Pacific Airlines, plus a deep-sea fishing trip on a chartered boat, and $3,000 worth of other prizes.

Mayor Calls for Support

Council Solid Behind Mall

Not Consulted

Slight Irks Council

Appointment of J. A. Byers as juvenile and family court judge by the attorney-general without prior consultation with the affected municipalities irked city council yesterday.

Aldermen voted to inform the attorney-general they felt the municipalities concerned should be consulted in similar future appointments.

Esquimalt definitely has made up its mind to stay out of the joint court for this year, Reeve A. C. Wurtele told the committee.

LARGEST SHOT

In council, Ald. Geoffrey Edgewood asked if the city, "paying the largest shot," had been consulted before the appointment of Judge Byers and Deputy Judge H. E. Alder, and Mayor Scourrah told him, "Apparently not."

"I suggest the city should have been consulted," said Ald. Edgewood.

"I think so myself," Mayor Scourrah said, and others agreed.

Ald. Elmer McEwen suggested that it had been difficult to find someone who would take the job, but the mayor said there could have been "no difficulty whatever at the salary offered," which he said was $8,000 for work which was "not more than half time. . . I think we're paying too much money."

MRS. EVA ADAMS

Seen in Passing

Mrs. Eva Adams with Chipper's Delight, one of the ponies they keep at their farm at 4205 Glenford Avenue. (She and her husband, Floyd, have three children, Shirley, 10, David, 8, and Bruce, 7. Her hobbies are raising horses, ponies and dogs.) . . . Bob Carrier waving at a friend . . . Sam Ellis fixing a flat . . . Art Porter looking for mugs . . . friends relating how Morris Spouse, at the wheel of a small plane, "chased" two harmless chaps carrying shovels.

Identical Accidents Hurt Boys

Two young boys, injured in identical traffic accidents with in half-an-hour of each other last night, were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital for treatment.

Both boys ran from behind parked cars near their homes into the paths of moving cars. Darwin Cunningham, 7, 534 Fraser, is in satisfactory condition at hospital. He received minor head and possible arm injuries at 6.30 p.m. when struck on Fraser by a car driven by John Michael Connon, 461 Admirals.

Gleen Allen Brown, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Brown, 1121 Chapman, was treated for a cut on the head, received on Chapman at 6.05 p.m. from a car driven by Mrs. Phyllis Anne Nelson, 227 Linden.

Loan Vote June 23

Unanimous approval was given by city council yesterday to a statement from Mayor Scourrah calling for support of Victoria's parking-building and mall plan.

Property-owners will vote June 23 on borrowing $1,000,000 to construct the building and pedestrian shopping malls. Mayor Scourrah gave these reasons for supporting the plan:

• At least another 1,000 spaces for parking are needed, he said, in the central downtown area.

• This is the first step in an over-all plan to revitalize the centre of Victoria over 15 to 20 years.

• Cost of construction "will not raise taxes, because it will be paid for by an adjustment of the parking meter rate to five cents for 30 minutes."

• Amount of meter revenue already used for general revenue purposes will remain the same.

• Profits from the parking building and extra revenue from meters will be placed in a fund to finance this and following stages of the plan.

• Construction will be let out to contractors on a competitive basis.

• The plan was endorsed by the ratepayers in 1958, and has been endorsed by the 1958, 1959 and 1960 councils.

• "It is essential to develop this downtown improvement plan if we are to keep the centre of the city in a healthy condition, since approximately 46 per cent of the taxes come from business. If the centre of the city were allowed to deteriorate, the money to run the city would have to be found from the only other source, the homeowner. To my mind, this must be avoided at all costs."

Ald. Austin Curtis called on members of council to keep their ears open for criticisms so they could be answered at once.

For instance, he said, he had heard that some people were going to vote against the plan because they thought the parking building would contain no elevator or escalators. "Actually the design now incorporates escalators."

Work continued on the ferry terminals and approaches at Swartz Bay, above, and Tsawwassen with only brief respite for workers to watch arrival of the first ferry.

Gagardi Shrugs Off Mishap

Record Claimed For New Ferry

Gagardi

Late Service, More Ships In Prospect

Highways Minister Phil Gagardi said yesterday the government will consider extending its mainland ferry service beyond 9 p.m. if business lives up to expectations.

He also promised "more ships will be built as needed" for the Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen service.

Next ferry link on the B.C. Toll Highways and Bridges Authority program is the Kelsey Bay to Port McNeill service scheduled to begin "a year or two from now."

By IAN STREET

Highways Minister Phil Gagardi yesterday shrugged off a minor mishap to the ferry Mv Sidney on the pre-inaugural run and claimed a record for the crossing.

The trip from Tsawwassen to Swartz Bay was completed in one hour, 28 minutes. This knocked 12 minutes off what was previously estimated as a fast time.

Coming up to the dock at the end of the run the Sidney slammed into a loosely-tied piling fender on a concrete dolphin, shattering the logs and spraying frightened passengers with splinters of the creosoted wood. No one was injured and the damage was slight.

"I could straighten it (the damage) out myself with a torch and bucket of paint," said Mr. Gagardi. "The most important thing was that the run was completed in good time."

Capt. M. J. Hannigan, 49, a veteran of 25 years on this coast with the now defunct Union Steamship Company, was in command of the Sidney during the pre-inaugural run. Officials said afterwards the captain was "very upset" but they hastened to add minor mishaps are to be expected when terminal facilities are incomplete.

Everything Shipshape

Mr. Gagardi said the pilings attached to the dolphin were "only improvised" for yesterday's pre-inaugural run. But he promised "everything will be shipshape" for the start of the new service proper next Wednesday.

Acting Premier Eric Martin and all but two cabinet members—including Premier Bennett who is visiting the UK—were among 150 guests aboard the ferry on the first run. Many were American tourist officials and newspapermen invited to try out the new service.

A small group of government officials and invited guests who boarded the Sidney at Swartz Bay at 7 a.m. got a preview of the official first run on the way over to the mainland.

Ferry manager Monty Aldous drove the first car aboard the ferry at the mainland terminal. Seventeen other cars and five coachloads of guests followed. Only mishap occurred when the chief of the Tsawwassen Indian band was left behind on the dock. His absence was discovered too late to turn back.

Welcoming ceremonies at Sidney included North Saanich High School band and flower girls distributing bouquets provided by Sidney and North Saanich Chamber of Commerce. Two scarlet-coated RCMP officers stood by.

The RCMP launch from Ganges attracted the attention of American visitors when its crew in dress uniform saluted the arrival of the new ferry.

The City of Victoria entered the party will drive over the Malahat this morning and cross by the Mill Bay ferry to Brentwood for a visit to the Butchart Gardens before boarding the ferry at Swartz Bay for the mainland.

The sister ships, Sidney and Tsawwassen, gaily decked in flags and pennants for the gala occasion, passed close abreast near Active Pass and saluted each other with raucous blasts on their ship's siren.

The meeting of the two ships was repeated on the return trip.

Capt. Thomas Parkinson, 51, who rose from seaman to master in 25 years service with the CPR on the coast, was in command during the outward run. The landing at Tsawwassen terminal was without incident despite a 20-knot breeze whipping out of the northwest.

Third master on the service is Capt. G. D. Callan, 36, who previously served as a master on Black Ball Ferries' Nanaimo-Vancouver run.

During a conducted tour of the city in the afternoon a stop was made in Beacon Hill park where the visitors were entertained with Indian dances. Chief Edwin Underwood of the East Saanich Indian band made Bellingham's Mayor John Westford Chief Skakuthuck "little passage through the islands."

The party will drive over the Malahat this morning and cross by the Mill Bay ferry to Brentwood for a visit to the Butchart Gardens before boarding the ferry at Swartz Bay for the mainland.

Seventy years ago Mr. de Cosmos estimated his system, including 40 miles of railway and a bridge across the Fraser River, would cost $2,500,000. To date approximately $11,000,000 has been expended on the new government ferry service.

Dream of Amor de Cosmos Realized in B.C. Ferry Run

First run of the B.C. government Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen ferries yesterday saw the dream of Colonist founder Amor de Cosmos in 1888 come true.

Premier de Cosmos, as he then was, envisaged fast ferry service using two ships from Shoal Bay to English Bluff (now known as Tsawwassen Beach) and a railway link at each end to Victoria and New Westminster.

The scheme collapsed when the city of Victoria refused to guarantee the stock.

Guard Your Child's Future With Free Swim Classes

Parents can make a major investment in their child's future without paying a cent, through The Daily Colonist free swimming classes.

In the past seven years, thousands of children have been taught to swim by instructor Margie Naysmith. With this newly-acquired skill, they found new doors open to them for year-round fun. Parents, secure in the knowledge of their child's ability to look after himself in the water, can take him along on fishing trips, for example, and be free of the extra worry.

Later, children who learned to swim early can go on to other water sports like skin-diving and water-skiing. In a country where swimming places are everywhere, the opportunities to use the skills learned in the Colonist classes are limitless.

This year's classes are open to boys and girls from eight to 14 years of age. Each child will attend one class per week for eight weeks. Classes for Greater Victoria children open June 27 at Happyland, Elk Lake, with different groups attending on Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays.

Classes for youngsters in the Duncan area begin July 8 and will be held on Fridays only at the Queen Margaret's School swimming pool.

Application form appears below and should be mailed or delivered to The Daily Colonist as soon as possible. If parents desire two or more youngsters to be in the same class, the applications must be sent together with a special request attached.

Bus tickets for the eight round trips are available for $2.50 if transportation is required. They must be called for personally and paid for at the same time.

A complete list of entrants, along with their day and time to swim, will be published as soon as all entries are in.

U.S. Dollars Accepted at Par By Empress and CPR Chain

The decision of the Empress Hotel to accept U.S. dollars at par from registered guests has created another stir among Victoria businesses catering to the tourist trade.

Some businessmen who oppose any concession to the U.S. dollar, state that on principle they cannot see why tourists paying in foreign money should be given an advantage over local residents and others who pay in Canadian funds.

Manager of a leading Victoria store said: "So long as the Canadian dollar is at a premium we shall continue to discount U.S. bills. It is only fair to our own year-round customers."

Another store manager said he was opposed to giving U.S. customers an advantage over Canadians, but he added that if the premium went below

Decision Stirs Controversy

what is termed as a local "gentleman's agreement" to discount U.S. bills, he said that the decision had come from Montreal.

"The decision affects the whole CPR chain of hotels, and not the Empress alone," he said.

One of the critics of the Empress move said that while it did not matter greatly when the difference between the dollars was less than 2 per cent, there was no guarantee that by the peak of the tourist season, the rate might not be back to four or five per cent.

"Then everyone would be more or less forced to discount the U.S. bills, and we would have to go through all the old troubles again," he said.

Most merchants say they are going to continue to discount the U.S. dollar.

Don't change Victoria any more.

This was the "message" brought here yesterday by American tourist officials travelling as guests on the province on the pre-inaugural run of the B.C. government ferries.

LOVE TO COME

"Californians love to come to Victoria because we feel we are coming to a foreign country," said Cecil Duke, travel manager for the American Automobile Association in San Francisco.

"I say to the people of Victoria, don't try to change your city any more than you can help. You would have been amazed to hear the outcry from many of our 500,000 members when you took your policemen out of bobby helmets."

Similar sentiments were voiced by other U.S. members of the group of 150. Several expressed disappointment when they were served coffee instead of tea at a civic buffet luncheon in the Empress Hotel.

DISAPPOINTED

Pefer Wood of Bellevue, Wash., editor of the Inlander Times, said he was disappointed to find scant evidence here of the "little bit of old England that was the purpose of our visit."

All agreed the new fast ferry service to the mainland would boost tourist business to southern Vancouver Island.

SO DIFFERENT

James T. Kerr of Tacoma, head of the Washington Travel Bureau, said his clients "love to come to Victoria because it is so different from any city we have in the U.S. or any other Canadian city, for that matter."

All agreed the new fast ferry service to the mainland would boost tourist business to southern Vancouver Island.

City Council Asked To Amend Bylaw

A North Vancouver company yesterday asked city council to amend the zoning bylaw to permit it to build an eight-storey, $700,000 apartment on Douglas opposite Beacon Hill Park. Present limit is six storeys.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I came to this city from Lincoln, Nebraska, to get a job as a receptionist. I couldn't get exactly what I wanted so I settled for a waitress job in a cocktail lounge.

Many public relations and advertising executives come in and they are a smart, classy-looking bunch. Yesterday one of the friendlier ones asked me right out why a girl with such beautiful legs was doing waitress work. He said he could get me a job as a shoe model and suggested we talk it over.

I want to get out of the waitress line as the hours are hard and the pay isn't too good. I have no one here to talk this over with. The only thing that makes me wonder is why he didn't suggest I come to his office to talk about it.

I'm 20, She's 15

Dear Ann Landers: I am almost 20 and very much in love with a girl 15. She is mature mentally and physically. Her mother dislikes me because she says I'm too old for Loretta. I say she is mistaken. Love has nothing to do with age.

Yesterday afternoon Loretta asked me to pick her up at school during lunch hour and take her for a ride. Then she suggested we continue to ride and this meant ditching school for the remainder of the day. I agreed.

When I brought her home about 3:30 the principal had already phoned the family and

TIPS FOR PARENTS

By EDITH HENRY

Food for children on a long journey can be wisely managed.

Regularity of meals is one of the key words. It is better to plan so that the usual home routine is followed as closely as possible.

Regularity rules out continuous snacks. It is so easy to relieve boredom by suckers or biscuits or candy. If this goes on, a squeamish child may result.

The midmorning juice and cookie will be more acceptable than usual.

Stopping for gasoline or car checkup is better done without the persistent expectation of "treats."

A second key word is plainness. Avoid rich pastries and cakes, greasy or fried foods. Children are better with fresh or dried fruits. Steel yourself against pleas to stop for ice cream.

The third keynote is watchfulness. Realize that milk, water, cold meats, salads, cream pies or cold milk puddings are the most likely germ carriers.

It is quite possible with canned and frozen foods, wrapped bread and fresh fruits, to provide light and nutritious meals.

Stop once in the day, preferably at night, for a hot meal.

Along with eating goes the handicap of motion sickness, said to affect 80 per cent of travelling children.

There are partial preventives.

A medical article suggests that it is better to avoid over-excitement about the trip, or emotional upset because of fear or some behavior problem.

Reduce the tension by play and open air exercise. Eye fatigue is also said to be a predisposing cause. Change the focus now and then from outside moving scenery to some interesting inside occupation.

For children with this handicap, a diet high in protein is suggested, with a low amount of fat, and fluid.

Your physician may prescribe a child-sized dose of a drug as a preventive.

Proceeds For Stage At Sanscha

Victoria Symphony Society will sponsor a performance of Wynne Shaw ballet workshop in the North Saanich High School auditorium this evening at 8:15 p.m.

The workshop will raise funds to help building a stage for the new Sanscha Hall at Sidney.

Last season a series of symphony concerts was given at Sidney by the Victoria orchestra and proved most popular. Stage facilities were not adequate for the concerts and it is with the coming season in mind that Sidney residents are working to build a new stage.

WHAT'S COOKING

By LOUISE MOORE

Since we have been thinking of gardens, we might as well work some of the green stuff into our menus. They should at least give our menus a lift and are a valuable health food with their abundance of iron, vitamin A and calcium.

Salads should appear on the table at least once a day and to keep monotony out of the salad bowl vary the foundation greens by using tender green leaves of spinach, endive, curly chikory or crisp curls of watercress.

The vegetables should be crisp, sliced, diced or cut in attractive pieces combining such things as diced celery and green pepper, thin disks of red radishes, crisp thin circles of onion, saturated slices of cucumber unpeeled if tender, sections of tomato and apple combined with chopped or slices of hard cooked eggs—maybe toss in a few anchovies, sardines, strips of cooked ham and a piquant dressing to make healthy appetizing salads. So lets see what we can do to stock the salad bowl with vitamins.

VEGETABLE SALADS

Use any combination of vegetables—cooked beets or carrots cut in thin strips; cooked green peas or cauliflower or celery pieces. Marinate each cooked vegetable separately in dressing. Arrange any combination of crisp salad greens in the bowl, add the cooked vegetables, mix lightly, sprinkle with grated cheese or add cheese strips for a complete main course dish in hot weather.

LEAF LETTUCE COUNTRY STYLE

Choose 1 large head of fresh garden lettuce, wash and dry the leaves and break into bite size pieces. Dice 4 or 5 slices of bacon and cook it until crisp and brown. Add ¼ cup mild vinegar, 2 tsp. sugar, ½ tsp. salt—more if you like it saltier—and freshly ground black pepper to taste. Add the lettuce and lightly toss in the hot vinegar mixture until lettuce is wilted and serve at once—so good eating.

Canadian Fashions Favored

By JUDITH AYER LONDON (CP) — Party dresses for teen-agers and stylish maternity clothes, both in the modern North American manner, caught the British fashion eye at an all-Canadian show.

The exhibition was the second Canadian fashion show in London in the last nine months.

With the relaxation of dollar restrictions, manufacturers on the other side of the Atlantic now have a better chance of crashing the British women's wear market.

Working girls' clothes for day and evening wear, as displayed at the show in the London hotel, did not appear to create so favorable an impression as at the first show last autumn. But buyers were enthusiastic over the maternity models, designed for chic as well as comfort.

Expert use in these styles was made of the tunic line.

Many of the dresses had short sleeves, more adaptable to centrally-heated buildings than to winter conditions in London.

Another difference between Canadian and British fashions could be detected in the hemlines. British girls are wearing their skirts an inch or two shorter than their Canadian counterparts.

Mom Whyte

Charges Persecution By B.C. Government

By STEPHEN SCOTT BLEWETT, B.C. (CP)—Mrs. Bertha Mom Whyte is living with six other adults, seven children and two dogs in two houses in a delightful location in this Kootenay area near Nelson, B.C., wondering whether she will be able to help people—any people.

Many miles away, at Summerland, near Penticton, four other members of her staff are looking after six elderly persons in a home the British Columbia government refuses to license and which is going rapidly into debt.

The middle-aged woman with sparkling blue eyes who says she believes God has instructed her to help those needing help has located herself, staff, friends and their children on a small farm beside a bubbling brook overlooking the beautiful Kootenay River Valley.

Blewett, a flat area on the side of a mountain, consists of one general store and post office 20 miles from Nelson.

In an interview, Mrs. Whyte charged the B.C. and Ontario governments with "persecution" but said she is not ready to give up.

Mrs. Whyte moved here when the Ontario government closed her home for children at Bowmanville, Ont.

She said she spent $1,000 and she and her staff put in $3,000 worth of labor to bring the old persons' home at Summerland, where she first moved when she came to B.C., up to provincial standards. But the government refused to give her a licence to operate and would give her no reason, despite the fact that the home had been licensed before she took it over.

This month, Mrs. Whyte said, she was unable to meet payments on debts she incurred operating the home. The six patients paid only $65 a month, the lowest rates in B.C., and this did not meet costs.

HOPES TO BUILD SOON

She said she hoped to start building on the 25 acres donated to her here as soon as the Bowmanville home is sold.

"We want to be prepared to care for those people who come to us," she said. Mrs. Whyte said she could have moved to other localities in North America when she left Ontario but regarded the donation of land by George Talbot of Nelson as a direction from God.

Harold Smith, a widower father, has given Mrs. Whyte the complete use of his small farm and one large and one small house. He lives in the basement of one of the houses. She had no income and Tuesday "we had no money to buy flour—but God sent $5 and we got some."

Visit Idaho

Mr. and Mrs. George Amas drove to Anacortes recently to meet the latter's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Amas, coming from Victoria for a four weeks' visit to Coeur d'Alene, Idaho. Mr. and Mrs. Amas are 66 years married and still active and enjoying good health.

Pig-Like

And it's really no wonder, for this little piggy, named Petunia, is eating high of the hog in the lap of luxury at feeding time. The baby porker is being bottle-fed by pretty Joyce Hammond, clad in old-fashioned attire, at Frontier Town, an authentic reproduction at North Hudson, N.Y.

Winning Contract

By HOWARD SCHENKEN and RICHARD L. FREY

Today's par-bank is a stumbling block for those who tend to forget that it is possible to make a game in a minor suit. Actually, with very little more luck than is required to make three or no trump, West can make six clubs. But there's no such luck present, and it's a case of let declarer beware.

East isn't strong enough to do more than bid two clubs at his second turn. Then it is up to West to avoid the no trump contract by revealing his distributional pattern.

A no trump contract is defeated because the club finesse fails. The five club contract goes the same way if the club finesse is taken, but the right way to play this hand is to cross-ruff for 11 tricks. West paves the way for the cross-ruff by ducking the first spade, and South's best defense is to return a trump.

West wins, cashes the top cards in the red suits, and makes two trump tricks by ruffing his deuce of hearts and dummy's four of diamonds. Next comes the ace and a low spade—and the moment of decision. If dummy ruffs with the ten-spot, South overruffs with the king and returns a club, and the contract is defeated.

But West prevents that by trumping the third round of spades with dummy's ace. After ruffing another diamond to get back to his hand, he leads the last spade and ruffs this time with dummy's ten. Now the overruff is harmless. Declarer loses only one trump and one spade, and East-West fulfill a difficult task by making game.

Sixteen of the 18 deals played in the 1960 Intercollegiate Bridge Championship are being discussed in this column. If you would like complete set of par sheets for all 18, send 6 cents in stamps to Bridge Hands, Room 2, 166 Fifth Ave., New York 10, N.Y. (Released by The Associated Newspapers)

Philip Tells U.S. Audience:

Look Frankly At Differences

NEW YORK (CP)—Prince Philip said Thursday night that glib talk can conceal misunderstandings among countries and he called instead for a frank look at differences.

The prince arrived here by air after a three-day visit in Canada and a few hours later addressed a posh dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria where he stressed the common background and aspirations of Britain and the United States.

"None of this is going to prevent differences of opinion, tough bargaining or uninhibited argument when the occasion arises," he said. "It does mean, however, that a proper understanding will prevent these differences from becoming an open rift."

He appeared on Canadian TV last night.

Aiding underdeveloped countries is not only a sound way to foster world peace, it is "commercially attractive," former UN technical assistance chairman Dr. Hugh Keenleyside said last night.

Addressing the Oak Bay Kiwanis Club, the chairman of B.C. Hydro said that since the UN started its technical assistance program with a pilot operation in Bolivia in 1949, the most encouraging development has been private industry's increasing endorsement of the scheme.

Navy Sips, Can't Swallow

OTTAWA (CP)—When the defence department buys rum for the navy it doesn't take any chances with the quality.

A five-man panel in the department's chemicals inspection branch puts the rum samples submitted by distilling firms to organoleptic (taste and odor) tests.

When these tests began for the first time last year the testers were all civilians chosen for taste acuity. But the navy insisted it wanted to take a tongue-in-the-affair and managed to insert supply officers into the panel as tasters.

For purposes of getting a jag on during working hours, however, membership on the taste panel is a dry loss. The taster may only roll the rum around on his tongue and then spit it out.

"If he swallows it, his taste perception goes down," said Dr. H. A. Showalter, chief of the chemicals inspection branch.

The rum is diluted, and between tests the panel members usually sip water and eat soda biscuits.

The navy buys its rum in bulk once a year, so the annual tasting bee is over in a couple of days.

The tasters compare the samples submitted with the standard rum issue.

Garden Notes

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

The planting of cabbage plants, Brussels sprouts and cauliflower is in full swing now, and the sooner they are settled down in the soil, the better. While cauliflower plants are a bit miffy and unpredictable, the rest of the brassica family are pretty tough and can take a lot of abuse, but it isn't wise to put too great a strain on their constitution by allowing their roots to dry out.

Plants from your own seed bed or coldframe should be shifted to their growing quarters a few at a time, so that none of them are out of the ground for longer than a few minutes. Purchased plants should be stood in a few inches of water for an hour or two before planting.

Examine the lower stems near the roots for the knob-like swellings caused by root-gall flies. It is easy to confuse these with the swellings caused by the club root disease, but there is no relationship between the two—the root gall is caused by an insect, club root by a fungus infection. The actual galls can be cut off with an old razor blade and the wound dusted with aldrin or heptachlor. Club root can be controlled to a remarkable extent by dusting the roots and planting soil with the wonder soil fungicide known as PCNB and sold under the names of Terrachlor and Lawn & Soil Fungicide.

Don't forget that the big need of all the brassica family is plenty of lime in the soil. This is needed not only to provide calcium for the plants but also because club root thrives in an acid soil and lime neutralizes excess acidity. Dress the bed with one cupful of hydrated lime and scratch shallowly into the surface soil. I think it is best to plant out these subjects in the bottom of a shallow flat-bottomed trench to facilitate earthing up around the stem later in the season. Like potatoes, tomatoes and some lilies, cabbage and sprout plants will push out extra feeding roots further up the stem if mounded up.

While newly planted rose bushes are usually given quite a lot of loving care—sometimes too much babying for their own good—the old established roses are often neglected and allowed to go their own way.

Like all other plants, roses appreciate a good feed, particularly as they are coming into bloom.

The Vigoro people put out a specially-formulated rose food fortified with magnesium and iron—two elements not ordinarily found in the common compound fertilizers, and this can be scratched in around the roots according to the directions on the package. Remember that dry fertilizers are of no use at all during dry weather and may even be harmful if not watered in thoroughly.

If you plan on exhibiting roses in the Victoria Horticultural Society's summer show, June 17 and 18, you can put a little extra polish on your blooms by watering them with a solution made up by dissolving two tablespoons of saltpetre and two tablespoons of potash phosphate in one gallon of water. Give each bush about three pints of this tonic this weekend, but remember this also has a hurry-up effect and will push the buds on to open two or three days earlier than they would ordinarily. In fact, this stuff can be used to speed up the development of any reluctant buds.

TV in Review

Shoehorned Opera Good Fit

By Fred Danzig

NEW YORK (UPI)—"Music for a Summer Night" managed to shoehorn Puccini's opera, "Tosca," into its one-hour ABC-TV time slot this week and produce a generally enjoyable show.

Soprano Heidi Krall was Tosca, baritone Walter Cassel was Baron Scarpia, the chief of the Rome secret police, and tenor Davis Cunningham was Tosca's lover, Mario. The orchestra was conducted by Wilfred Pelletier.

The singers performed with subdued operatic vigor and pleasing sureness as they manoeuvred around some spacious-looking sets. The story of Tosca, her lover and the lecherous, sadistic police chief had much of the pageantry and political strife underlying the plot lopped off. The story also was lifted from the Napoleonic era of 1800 and plunked down in the Rome of Mussolini's era, in 1938.

By up-dating the story and not updating some of the stage directions, some impact was lost. While it was a worthwhile project, filled with lovely singing, I felt that Il Duce's black-shirts still do not have the romantic allure of the Bonapartists and Monarchists of another Italy.

ABC-TV should try more of this kind of gambling. But it won't.

David and Steven Born are 18-month-old twins who appear in a Pabulum-and-formula TV series called "Happy."

The show had its premiere this week in the first half of the NBC-TV hour occupied by Perry Como during the season.

I hope the Born boys do not take it personally when I say I didn't care for their show. Oh, I think they're adorable little guys and I'm not blaming the series on them. (Had they been consulted, the thing might have improved.)

The gimmick in this series is for the baby's face to be seen in close-up while an off-camera baby-type voice offers adult-type captions, or comments, about the shenanigans of the grownups around the house. It's a device that depends on some mighty clever punch lines and interesting facial expressions and body contortions.

In the opener, the uninspired captions commented on uninspired domestic scenes that involved Ronnie Burns and Yvonne Lime as Daddy and Mommy, respectively, and Lloyd Corrigan as Uncle Charley, the good-natured, oafish helper. A vitamin-charged laugh track added to the immature look of the show.

The second half of Como's hour is being filled by an adult western called "Tate."

The first offering, which followed "Happy," contained flat talk, flat characterizations, flat plot, flat direction and round bullets that knocked off a tally of five dead, two wounded.

David McLean, as Tate, a vagabond gunfighter, operates with his left arm in a sling. But his greatest handicap was the script and the production standards.

Both "Tate" and "Happy" are produced by Perry Como's company. He's been having trouble finding good songs to record, too.

Yul Blowing His Bald Top

By Sheilah Graham

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—When Kirk Douglas was asked in Mexico, why he was so pleasant and co-operative while making his "Day of the Gun," and Yul Brynner was not during the filming of "The Magnificent Seven," Kirk quipped, "Perhaps it's because I have hair!" From all of which I gather that Yul was his usual nonco-operative self. I wonder what happened to change him—he used to be wonderful.

Cary Grant for the first time put his own money into a film—"The Grass Is Greener," from his "Operation Petticoat" millions.

I asked suave Michael Rennie why we did not see his "Third Man" series in this country—it was made in England. "You will," said Michael. "It has just been bought by a big syndicate."

Be an actress and see the world. Connie Stevens, starring in "Pariah" in Connecticut, to Hawaii next month for backgrounds in Hawaiian Eye.

Sammy Davis Jr. is having lots of suits made in London, but is driving Saville Row tailors off their rockers, insisting, "No padded shoulders, no waistline." And in passing I repeat, I won't believe his talk of marriage with May Britt until he walks down the aisle with the blonde Swedish star.

The French and Italian press are calling luscious Tina Louise "the tall Elizabeth Taylor." Tina admits she is flattered.

David Niven wants to feel fit at 80, so at 50 he is following the protein plan, so successful with Robert Cummings.

$180,000 Court Order

Bequest Will Mean Bicycles for Girls

SEATTLE (AP)—Tears streamed down the cheeks of Colleen and Cindy Lee Northey of Snohomish Wednesday. Their happiness had sprung a leak.

Colleen, 13, and Cindy, 10, just plain bawled for joy when their mother, Mrs. Jeanette Northey Akins, told the girls she'd take them to Everett Saturday and buy them their first new bicycles.

The gifts were made possible by a court order giving Mrs. Akins half of a $360,000 estate left by her grandmother, Mrs. Jennie Kleinlein, 83, a one-time Seattle charwoman.

The girls were told of the family's good fortune—and their bikes—in the office of Mrs. Akins' Seattle attorneys. There'll be one more dividend for the youngsters, a trip to Disneyland "if we can manage it."

Mrs. Akins, attractive 36-year-old housewife, was reared by Mrs. Kleinlein in Seattle. Her 1944 marriage to William Northey, a navy flier, ended in divorce in 1957. The following year she married Stanley Akins, employed by a Snohomish building contractor. They have a year-old son, Chris.

Superior Judge James W. Mifflin Monday ordered Mrs. Kleinlein's estate shared equally by Mrs. Akins and her half-brother, Jack Foley, Palo Alto, Calif., fireman. They had sued to break the will which had left everything to Arnold Kleinlein, no kin of the elderly woman but her companion for 23 years.

Blaze Quelled

Oil-Burned Workman Gave Alarm

A 23-year-old workman burned on his face, neck and both hands when a paving oil tank caught fire late last night, jumped into his car and drove several blocks to a service station to notify the fire department.

Geovanni Munaro, 743 Market, taken to St. Joseph's Hospital by police ambulance, was later reported in satisfactory condition.

He was putting burners on an empty paving tank at L. Knott Paving Co. Ltd., 2425 Turner, when it caught fire, said police. He drove to a service station at the Douglas Street roundabout.

Firemen quickly quelled the blaze.

Cottage Fire Blamed On Children

Children playing with matches are believed responsible for a fire which damaged a small, three-room cottage on Cedar Hill Crossroad yesterday afternoon.

Damage was confined to the rear of the cottage at 3930 Cedar Hill Crossroad.

The building, owned by Thomas Carson of the same address, was unoccupied and was used only by summer visitors. The rear wall was destroyed by the blaze which broke out shortly before 5 p.m.

Party Bosses Rebuke Rocky

WASHINGTON (AP)—The leadership of the Republican party Thursday repudiated New York Governor Nelson Rockefeller's assault on Vice-President Richard Nixon and policies of President Eisenhower's administration.

Rockefeller challenged Nixon to declare himself on vital issues now, not after the Republican national convention. The governor also assailed numerous administration policies.

In a move that caught political friends and foe by complete surprise, the draft-available Rockefeller said Wednesday in a statement:

"I find it unreasonable in these times that the leading Republican candidate for the presidential nomination has firmly insisted upon making known his program and his policies not before, but only after, nomination by his party."

Neither the nation nor the party, Rockefeller said, can march into the future holding a banner "whose only emblem is a question mark."

Nixon answered by praising Rockefeller as a man of integrity, but disagreed sharply with Rockefeller's contention that Nixon has not stated his position forcibly on public issues.

'ASSURE HIM'

"I can assure him that his oft-repeated desire that he not be drafted as vice-president certainly will be respected by me," said Nixon.

Nixon offered to meet Rockefeller before television cameras "and have a discussion in depth."

But Rockefeller said: "I have stated my positions on the questions I have posed. I invite the vice-president to state his. To do this, he does not need me to interrogate him on television."

Rockefeller said in his statement: "I find it difficult to reconcile the contradictory responses made by the vice-president and his supporters to my statement of yesterday."

"The vice-president today insists that he has spoken his views on all national issues in great detail. But his supporters simultaneously insist that he has been perfectly correct in not stating his views until after the Republican convention."

"Only three weeks ago, the vice-president himself stated publicly, 'If I become the candidate, I will be the candidate of the party.'"

Governor Hits Nixon For Silence

Worse Than Tipplers

Odd-Night Drinkers Often End in Court

VANCOUVER (CP)—Magistrate Lorne Jackson says the drivers who drink only on the odd night out with the boys can be more dangerous than the steady tipplers.

And too many of them come to court, he said after Harold O'Brien, 49-year-old salesman, pleaded guilty in police court to impaired driving.

"There are so many men, 50 and over, coming into these courts," he said after the defence lawyer said his client had been driving for 21 years, in which his only offences were two speeding tickets.

"They apparently get out with the boys and don't know their own limitations. 'Something must be done about it. Time after time they come in here—respectable individuals. Sometimes I think they are more a danger than the fellows who are accustomed to carrying their liquor.' He fined O'Brien $250.

Students Warned

NORTH VANCOUVER (CP)—Students at junior high schools have been warned not to drive cars to school. They have also been reminded of a no-smoking edict. The instructions are in a booklet distributed by the school board to parents of pupils advancing to junior high schools in September.

Ground Parties Misdirected

Off on 'Wild Goose Chase'

Wrecked Plane Souvenir-Stripped

Pilfering Sparked Foul-Up

Widespread souvenir hunting from the wreck of the crashed Seabee aircraft at Nitinat Lake has been responsible for sending parties "off on wild goose chases" throughout the hunt for Cecil Rawlings.

The souvenir hunting is the latest in a tragic series of mistakes and accidents which have plagued the search for the missing Victorian.

ONLY DEVELOPMENT

In today's only development, RCMP officials reported the discovery of a fairly new shoe tongue in a bed of leaves which could have been used by Rawlings after the crash.

It is the same place where Rawlings' camera was found, some 1,200 feet from the site of the crash which claimed the life of Cecil Rhodes.

An attempt will be made this morning to get positive identification of this shoe tongue.

"If the shoe tongue is from Rawlings' shoes, and since the camera was definitely his, then we must accept the fact that he slept in that bed of leaves sometime after the crash," said RCMP Inspector W. Gerrie last night.

TAKEN EARLY

The Daily Colonist learned last night that such equipment as the plane's survival kit, a dinghy, safety belt and a tail wheel had been taken early in the search by members of search parties.

One senior search official said: "We're very much concerned. This pilfering definitely led us off on wild goose chases."

RCMP confirmed the fact that items had been taken from the wreckage but said most had now been recovered and had been turned over to department of transport investigators.

NOT TOO FAR

"It never led us too far down the garden path as far as I'm aware," a senior RCMP spokesman said.

He added he did not think the camera had been taken from the wreck and then left in the bush where it was found.

"We toyed with the possibility but I don't think that was what happened," he stated.

FINAL REPORT

News of the souvenir hunting came as a final report in a long line of errors and mistakes which marked the search for Rawlings since the discovery of the wreckage at the northwestern tip of Nitinat Lake last Friday.

Now, seven days later when consideration is being given to cancelling the hunt shortly, there is still no positive proof that Rawlings escaped from the airplane wreckage alive or for that matter whether he was even aboard the aircraft when it took off from Nitinat Lake late on Sunday, May 29.

Search parties will again make ground sweeps through the densely-covered timberlands this morning, especially around the actual crash site.

ANOTHER LOOK

"This area certainly warrants another look," RCMP spokesmen said last night.

Helicopters and float planes will make air sweeps to check the shorelines of lakes and rivers and the 50 soldiers from the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry in the area will again go into the bush.

Meanwhile the body of Claude James Creed, Brentwood fishing guide and outdoorsman, who was killed when a cable snapped as he was being hoisted up to a helicopter Tuesday night, was brought to Victoria yesterday.

An inquest was opened before Coroner Dr. Edgar Gee of Lake Cowichan yesterday.

But Rockefeller said: "I have stated my positions on the questions I have posed. I invite the vice-president to state his. To do this, he does not need me to interrogate him on television."

"I find it difficult to reconcile the contradictory responses made by the vice-president and his supporters to my statement of yesterday."

"The vice-president today insists that he has spoken his views on all national issues in great detail. But his supporters simultaneously insist that he has been perfectly correct in not stating his views until after the Republican convention."

PRESENT PROGRAM

"Only three weeks ago, the vice-president himself stated publicly, 'If I become the candidate, I intend to present to the country a new program.'"

"This is the crux of the issue I have raised. The people, the Republican party, and the delegates to the Republican convention are entitled to know what a 'new program' means. They have a right to know before, not after, the nomination of a candidate, precisely where he stands."

UNBUFFED

President Eisenhower was pictured as unbuffed—and unconvicted—by the governor's suggestion that Eisenhower's defence policies have exposed the United States to danger.

Republican national chairman Thurston Morton and Senate leader Everett Dirksen said they regarded the Rockefeller statement as an attack on the Eisenhower record.

PREMIER BENNETT
... inflation over

On Way Home

U.K. Stormed By Bennett?

BY RICHARD L. THOMAS
Colonist London Correspondent

LONDON—Premier Bennett left here homeward bound yesterday convinced he had taken the austere halls of British high finance by storm.

He boarded the Queen Mary at Southampton freely predicting that his fortnight of talks with the elite of the English investment world would produce dynamic results in securing development capital and new industries for British Columbia.

CROSS-SECTION

"I met an influential cross-section of British bankers, financiers, industrialists and businessmen" and "they were impressed with British Columbia's record and convinced me that the period of acute inflation is over."

He said he had noted "intense interest" in British Columbia developments and progress and is "confident of substantial new investment in the province and a period of expanding trade in both directions between Britain and British Columbia."

The premier predicted that a number of important leaders of British industry will visit the province in the near future.

He said London was devoid of any "crisis temperament" and that he saw "complete confidence everywhere."

SIZE AND BEAUTY

Impressed by his visit to Crawley New Town, the premier said he believed the new planning concept could be adapted to British Columbia. He was particularly impressed by the size and beauty of parks and open spaces within British municipalities.

Premier Bennett will visit the British Industrial Fair in New York upon landing, confer with U.S. financiers, and after a day in Toronto return to Victoria June 17 or 18.

Immigration Under Fire

OTTAWA (CP)—Frank Howard, CCF—Skeena, suggested Thursday in the Commons that some immigration department officials might have participated in the Chinese immigration racket now under RCMP investigation.

At one point in the heated debate a CCF member charged there was "333,000,000-worth of graft someplace."

NOTLY DENIED

An angry Immigration Minister Fairclough hotly denied the allegation and said that so far she has no doubts about the integrity of the immigration department staff.

"Put up or shut up," she said to Mr. Howard.

"The whole staff's rotten," interjected Arnold Peters (CCF, Timiskaming).

BLOW-UP

The blow-up came near the end of a long day's debate on immigration policy.

Mr. Howard said the Chinese immigration racket casts great doubt on the efficiency of departmental officials in Hong Kong.

"Maybe they participated in the scheme," he added. Mrs. Fairclough said she took strong exception to this remark.

Mr. Howard said he was told two or three years ago by Chinese-Canadians in Vancouver and Prince Rupert, B.C., that they could get relatives into Canada for $3,000.

INVOLVED

They had also mentioned, he said, that persons working for the immigration department were involved in the scheme.

He said on the basis of 11,000 illegal entrants—a figure which he said the department has not disputed—paying $3,000 each there was expected to go higher.

$33,000,000-worth of graft someplace. The department couldn't have been as ignorant of the racket as Mrs. Fairclough claimed.

At the night sitting, Mr. Peters renewed the accusations that immigration department officials whom he referred to as "ignorant and backward" must have known something about the illegal entry racket.

J. W. Pickersgill (L. Bonaville-Twillingate), former immigration minister, accused Mr. Peters later of hiding behind his parliamentary immunity to attack officials who were present in the House but could not reply. About 15 departmental personnel were in the galleries at the time.

Hong Kong Typhoon Kills 60

HONG KONG (Reuters)—This battered British colony counted at least 60 persons dead or missing Thursday night in the wake of a typhoon.

Officials listed 28 persons dead, 32 missing, 27 severely injured and more than 4,000 homeless in the densely-populated colony on the coast of mainland China. The toll was expected to go higher.

Comparing cheques won in last night's Victoria Optimist Club bingos at Victoria Curling Club, Arthur Molesworth, left, 1176 Yates Street, and Pat Graham, 1672 Derby Road, speculate on how to spend the money. Mr. Molesworth won $900, Mr. Graham, $800.—(Colonist photo.)

Around the Island

Nanaimo-Mainland
Air Link Assured

CASSIDY — A jubilant group of businessmen said yesterday Cassidair Services Ltd. will operate a Vancouver-Nanaimo plane service, probably starting June 20.

The company's application for a licence to the Air Transport Board has been accepted, manager W. G. MacSwain announced yesterday.

First plane for the run, an Aero Commander, is to be delivered early next week, he said. Another will be purchased later.

"We'll buy as many planes as the traffic warrants," said Mr. MacSwain. They carry six passengers and a pilot.

Schedules are now being prepared. They are to connect with transcontinental planes leaving Vancouver airport.

"The way it is now, if an island resident wants to catch a morning transcontinental flight at Sea Island, he has to spend a night in Vancouver," said Mr. MacSwain. "Our flights will be nine minutes in the air and 15 minutes from ramp to ramp. We propose five return trips a day."

Price will be $5 each way, a bit cheaper than air travel to Vancouver from Patricia Bay.

The only thing that could hold up the company's starting plans, said Mr. MacSwain, is "something unforeseen."

He said island businessmen who own the company feel that the service, operated with medium-sized planes, is the "answer" to quick flights between the two points.

Pacific Western Airlines and Queen Charlotte Airlines each operated services on a triangle run between Nanaimo, Victoria and Vancouver but quit after losing money. PWA used DC-3s and QCA had Ansons.

DUNCAN — Applications have been made to both the provincial government and a Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation for money to help build a Kiwanis elderly citizens village here.

Jack Hindmarch, village president, said yesterday the government has been asked for about $18,500.

On the provincial government's answer hangs the granting of a $34,500 loan that is being asked from the federal corporation, he said.

If word is received this summer, work could start within 30 days, he said. The CFMC money would be paid back over 40 years.

PORT ALBERNI — Pacific Pledriving Co. Ltd., of Victoria, has been awarded the contract to improve facilities for the fishing fleet here.

award of the $90,612 contract on behalf of the minister of public works.

The project will involve construction of a wharf and considerable dredging in the area just below the CPR dock. Work is scheduled for completion in eight months.

The irregular-shaped wharf of about 9,350 square feet will be of creosoted pile bents and creosoted timber decking. The approach will be 20 feet by 180 feet and the contract also includes dredging of approximately 3,000 cubic yards of material, as well as the installation of an electrical hoist for unloading fish.

During weekends in the fishing season, over 300 vessels berth here.

Pacific Pledriving submitted the lowest bid of four on the project.

DUNCAN — More than 30 applications have been received for Cowichan's first "painted in the park" children's classes that will be sponsored here this summer by the Community Arts Council.

Arrangements are being made for a Victoria art teacher to give the lessons, costing $10 a pupil for the six-week course. They start June 27. The teacher's salary is to be paid by the Federation of Canadian Artists.

Applications may be given to Mr. or Mrs. P. W. Paradis, members of the committee.

Thomas Barnes, charged with careless driving after an accident on Beaver Creek Road, was fined $35. Norman Deplaedt, pleading guilty to the same charge after an accident on River Road, was also fined $35. According to information given in court, Deplaedt's car had careened into the front yard of a home.

A fine of $25 was imposed on Mical A. McGladery, charged with failing to give up half of the road. The charge was laid as the result of a collision on Kitsukis Road between the accused's car and a vehicle driven by Carole Burtnik.

DUNCAN — Mrs. Violet Irene Griffiths, 40, a former resident of Victoria and Shawigan Lake, died in hospital yesterday. Funeral services will be held here Monday.

Mrs. Griffiths was born at Cranbrook and lived at Vancouver before coming to the Island in 1945. She had lived here for the last three years. Surviving are her husband, Albert; a son, Robert; three daughters, Marjorie, Elaine and Linda, all at home; her mother, Mrs. Martha George at Kimberley, and seven brothers.

DUNCAN — Dirt in water lines yesterday in the east end of the townsite was probably caused by water connections being made.

Clerk Gordon Berry said it is confined to a small area and will be washed out of the lines by today. He said dirt was likely disturbed in the lines when new connections were made on Coronation and the highway.

Record Claimed

Late Service,
More Ships
In Prospect

Highways Minister Gagardi said yesterday the government will consider extending its mainland ferry service beyond 9 p.m. if business lives up to expectations.

He also promised "more ships will be built as needed" for the Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen service.

Next ferry link on the B.C. Toll Highways and Bridges Authority program is the Kelsey Bay to Port McNeill service scheduled to begin "a year or two from now."

By IAN STREET

Highways Minister Phil Gagardi yesterday shrugged off a minor mishap to the ferry Mv Sidney on the pre-inaugural run and claimed a record for the crossing.

The trip from Tsawwassen to Swartz Bay was completed in one hour, 28 minutes. This knocked 12 minutes off what was previously estimated as a fast time.

Coming up to the dock at the end of the run the Sidney slammed into a loosely-tied piling fender on a concrete dolphin, shattering the logs and spraying frightened passengers with splinters of the creosoted wood. No one was injured and the damage was slight.

"I could straighten it (the damage) out myself with a torch and bucket of paint," said Mr. Gagardi. "The most important thing was that the run was completed in good time."

Capt. M. J. Hannigan, 49, a veteran of 25 years on this coast with the now defunct Union Steamship Company, was in command of the Sidney during the pre-inaugural run. Officials said afterwards the captain was "very upset" but they hastened to add minor mishaps are to be expected when terminal facilities are incomplete.

Everything Shipshape

Mr. Gagardi said the pilings attached to the dolphin were "only improvised" for yesterday's pre-inaugural run. But he promised "everything will be shipshape" for the start of the new service proper next Wednesday.

Acting Premier Eric Martin and all but two cabinet members—including Premier Bennett who is visiting the UK—were among 150 guests aboard the ferry on the first run. Many were American tourist officials and newspapermen invited to try out the new service.

A small group of government officials and invited guests who boarded the Sidney at Swartz Bay at 7 a.m. got a preview of the official first run on the way over to the mainland.

The sister ships, Sidney and Tsawwassen, gaily decked in flags and pennants for the gala occasion, passed close abreast near Active Pass and be shipshape" for the start of the new service proper next Wednesday.

The meeting of the two ships was repeated on the return trip.

Capt. Thomas Parkinson, 51, who rose from seaman to master in 25 years service with the CPR on the coast, was in command during the outward run. The landing at Tsawwassen terminal was without incident despite a 20-knot breeze whipping out of the northwest.

Third master on the service is Capt. G. D. Callan, 36, who previously served as a master on Black Ball Ferries' Nanaimo-Vancouver run.

Ferry manager Monty Aldous drove the first car aboard the ferry at the mainland terminal. Seventeen other cars and five coachloads of guests followed. Only mishap occurred when the chief of the Tsawwassen Indian band was left behind on the dock. His absence was discovered too late to turn back.

Welcoming ceremonies at Sidney included North Saanich High School band and flower girls distributing bouquets provided by Sidney and North Saanich Chamber of Commerce. Two scarlet-coated RCMP officers stood by.

The RCMP launch from Ganges attracted the attention of American visitors when its crew in dress uniform saluted the arrival of the new ferry.

The City of Victoria entertained the party will drive over the Malahat this morning and cross by the Mill Bay ferry to Brentwood for a visit to the Butchart Gardens before boarding the ferry at Swartz Bay for the mainland.

tained officials and guests at a buffet luncheon in the Empress Hotel at which Mayor Percy Scourah enlisted the aid of all present in bringing more visitors to "the most beautiful capital city in Canada."

During a conducted tour of the city in the afternoon a stop was made in Beacon Hill park where the visitors were entertained with Indian dances. Chief Edwin Underwood of the East Saanich Indian band made Bellingham's Mayor John Westford Chief Scakuthuck "little passage through the islands."

The party will drive over the Malahat this morning and cross by the Mill Bay ferry to Brentwood for a visit to the Butchart Gardens before boarding the ferry at Swartz Bay for the mainland.

Atmosphere Important

Don't Change City
Americans' Plea

Don't change Victoria any more.

This was the "message" brought here yesterday by American tourist officials travelling as guests on the province on the pre-inaugural run of the B.C. government ferries.

LOVE TO COME

"Californians love to come to Victoria because we feel we are coming to a foreign country," said Cecil Duke, travel manager for the American Automobile Association in San Francisco.

"I say to the people of Victoria, don't try to change your city any more than you can help. You would have been amazed to hear the outcry from many of our 500,000 members when you took your policemen out of bobby helmets."

Similar sentiments were voiced by other U.S. members of the group of 150. Several expressed disappointment when they were served coffee instead of tea at a civic buffet luncheon in the Empress Hotel.

DISAPPOINTED

Peter Wood of Bellevue, Wash., editor of the Interlake Times, said he was disappointed to find scant evidence here of the "little bit of old England that was the purpose of our visit."

All agreed the new fast ferry service to the mainland would boost tourist business to southern Vancouver Island.

He said the Olde England Inn where he was allocated accommodation came up to expectations and vowed to spend some time "searching for antique shops."

George Hanley Barker, Tacoma's "Mr. Welcome," said a visit to Victoria is "like a trip overseas to the old country."

LOVE TO COME

James T. Kerr of Tacoma, head of the Washington Travel Bureau, said his clients "love to come to Victoria because it is so different from any city we have in the U.S. or any other Canadian city, for that matter."

All agreed the new fast ferry service to the mainland would boost tourist business to southern Vancouver Island.

City Council Asked

To Amend Bylaw

A North Vancouver company yesterday asked city council to amend the zoning bylaw to permit it to build an eight-storey, $700,000 apartment on Douglas opposite Beacon Hill Park. Present limit is six storeys.

what is termed as a local "gentleman's agreement" to discount U.S. bills, he said that the decision had come from Montreal.

"The decision affects the whole CPR chain of hotels, and not the Empress alone," he said.

One of the critics of the Empress move said that while it did not matter greatly when the difference between the dollars was less than 2 per cent, there was no guarantee that by the peak of the tourist season, the rate might not be back to four or five per cent.

"Then everyone would be more or less forced to discount the U.S. bills, and we would have to go through all the old troubles again," he said.

Most merchants say they are going to continue to discount the U.S. dollar.

Decision Stirs
Controversy

one cent, his firm would probably waive the difference.

"At under one cent, making the charge would hardly be worthwhile," he explained.

Other merchants and hotel and motel operators were not so sure. Some feel that with the discount now less than two per cent, it is not sufficient to make a fuss about, and they don't want to antagonize customers.

A spokesman for the Empress Hotel yesterday said that the acceptance of U.S. dollars at par had been in effect for some days.

Asked if this was breaking

U.S. Dollars Accepted at Par
By Empress and CPR Chain

The decision of the Empress Hotel to accept U.S. dollars at par from registered guest has created another stir among Victoria businesses catering to the tourist trade.

Some businessmen who oppose any concession to the U.S. dollar, state that on principle they cannot see why tourists paying in foreign money should be given an advantage over local residents and others who pay in Canadian funds.

Manager of a leading Victoria store said: "So long as the Canadian dollar is at a premium we shall continue to discount U.S. bills. It is only fair to our own year-round customers."

Another store manager said he was opposed to giving U.S. customers an advantage over Canadians, but he added that if the premium went below sent together with a special request attached.

Bus tickets for the eight round trips are available for $2.50 if transportation is required. They must be called for personally and paid for at the same time.

A complete list of entrants, along with their day and time to swim, will be published as soon as all entries are in.

Guard Your Child's Future
With Free Swim Classes

Parents can make a major investment in their child's future without paying a cent, through The Daily Colonist free swimming classes.

In the past seven years, thousands of children have been taught to swim by instructor Margie Naysmith. With this newly-acquired skill, they found new doors open to them for year-round fun.

Parents, secure in the knowledge of their child's ability to look after himself in the water, can take him along on fishing trips, for example, and be free of the extra worry.

Later, children who learned to swim early can go on to other water sports like skin-diving and water-skiing. In a country where swimming places are everywhere, the opportunities to use the skills learned in the Colonist classes are limitless.

This year's classes are open to boys and girls from eight to 14 years of age. Each child will attend one class per week for eight weeks. Classes for Greater Victoria children open June 27 at Happyland, Elk Lake, with different groups attending on Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays.

Classes for youngsters in the Duncan area begin July 8 and will be held on Fridays only at the Queen Margaret's School swimming pool.

Application form appears below and should be mailed or delivered to The Daily Colonist as soon as possible. If parents desire two or more youngsters to be in the same class, the applications must be

Dream of Amor de Cosmos
Realized in B.C. Ferry Run

First run of the B.C. government Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen ferries yesterday saw the dream of Colonist founder Amor de Cosmos in 1888 come true.

Premier de Cosmos, as he then was, envisaged fast ferry service using two ships from Shoal Bay to English Bluff (now known as Tsawwassen Beach) and a railway link at each end to Victoria and New Westminster.

The scheme collapsed when the city of Victoria refused to guarantee the stock.

Seventy years ago Mr. de Cosmos estimated his system, including 40 miles of railway and a bridge across the Fraser River, would cost $2,500,000.

To date approximately $11,000,000 has been expended on the new government ferry service.

Crofton Pulp Mill

Culvert Ablaze Three Hours

CROFTON — Firemen here were called on yesterday morning to help company men fight a fire for three hours in a 38-inch wooden culvert sewer line at the B.C. Forest Products Ltd. pulp mill. White billowing smoke could be seen for miles as the men strung hoses for a quarter of a mile, and then bulldozers were called in to block the lower end with dirt so the tunnel could be flooded. It was still flooded late yesterday afternoon when D. H. Baker, the mill manager, said the damage would be estimated today.

NO HINDERANCE

The fire would not hinder the operation of the mill, he said. The tunnel carries effluent several hundred feet out into the harbor.

About 60 feet of tunnel, running from the plant and under railway tracks to a foam plant near the inlet, was a mass of smoke, sending up gaseous fumes that hampered firemen.

FIREMEN CALLED

It was discovered about 7 a.m. and brought under control by 10 a.m., said Mr. Baker. Crofton Volunteer Fire Department was called.

Mr. Baker said the cause of the blaze was not known, but it could have been a spark from a locomotive, cigarette butt or spontaneous combustion.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL BONNER ... addresses magistrates

'More on Probation Than in Institutions'

NANAIMO (CP)—Attorney-General Robert Bonner says 85 per cent of the population of B.C. now is served by magistrates who are trained legal men.

The attorney-general, addressing 150 magistrates in an annual convention here, said that in choosing magistrates the emphasis now is on experienced, trained lawyers. Mr. Bonner also said that the courts and probation officers in B.C. are handling juvenile offenders as well as anywhere.

"More people now are on probation in this province than are serving sentences in institutions," he said. Dr. G. D. Kennedy, deputy attorney-general, advised the

Ground Parties Misdirected

Off on 'Wild Goose Chase'

Wrecked Plane Souvenir-Stripped

Pilfering Sparked Foul-Up

Widespread souvenir hunting from the wreck of the crashed Seabee aircraft at Nitinat Lake has been responsible for sending parties "off on wild goose chases" throughout the hunt for Cecil Rawlings.

The souvenir hunting is the latest in a tragic series of mistakes and accidents which have plagued the search for the missing Victorian.

ONLY DEVELOPMENT

In today's only development, RCMP officials reported the discovery of a fairly new shoe tongue in a bed of leaves which could have been used by Rawlings after the crash.

It is the same place where Rawlings' camera was found, some 1,200 feet from the site of the crash which claimed the life of Cecil Rhodes.

An attempt will be made this morning to get positive identification of this shoe tongue.

"If the shoe tongue is from Rawlings' shoes, and since the camera was definitely his, then we must accept the fact that he slept in that bed of leaves sometime after the crash," said RCMP Inspector W. Gerrie last night.

TAKEN EARLY

The Daily Colonist learned last night that such equipment as the plane's survival kit, a dinghy, safety belt and a tail wheel had been taken early in the search by members of search parties.

One senior search official said: "We're very much concerned. This pilfering definitely led us off on wild goose chases."

RCMP confirmed the fact that items had been taken from the wreckage but said most had now been recovered and had been turned over to department of transport investigators.

NOT TOO FAR

"It never led us too far down the garden path as far as I'm aware," a senior RCMP spokesman said.

He added he did not think the camera had been taken from the wreck and then left in the bush where it was found.

"We toyed with the possibility but I don't think that was what happened," he stated.

FINAL REPORT

News of the souvenir hunting came as a final report in a long line of errors and mistakes which marked the search for Rawlings since the discovery of the wreckage at the northwestern tip of Nitinat Lake last Friday.

Now, seven days later when consideration is being given to cancelling the hunt shortly, there is still no positive proof that Rawlings escaped from the airplane wreckage alive or for that matter whether he was even aboard the aircraft when it took off from Nitinat Lake late on Sunday, May 29.

Search parties will again make ground sweeps through the densely-covered timberlands this morning, especially around the actual crash site.

ANOTHER LOOK

"This area certainly warrants another look," RCMP spokesman said last night.

Helicopters and float planes will make air sweeps to check the shorelines of lakes and rivers and the 50 soldiers from the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry in the area will again go into the bush.

Meanwhile the body of Claude James Creed, Brentwood fishing guide and outdoorsman, who was killed when a cable snapped as he was being hoisted up to a helicopter Tuesday night, was brought to Victoria yesterday.

An inquest was opened before Coroner Dr. Edgar Gee of Lake Cowichan yesterday.

'Copter Rescues Ike Aide in Riot

TOKYO (UPI)—White House press secretary James Hagerty and U.S. Ambassador to Tokyo Douglas MacArthur III were rescued by a daring U.S. Marine helicopter today from mobs of leftist demonstrators trying to block President Eisenhower's visit to Japan.

The demonstrators had surrounded MacArthur's limousine at Tokyo International Airport after Hagerty landed to complete arrangements for the Eisenhower visit June 19-23.

TRAPPED FOR HOUR

Screaming, banging on the car's top and smashing the left front window, the demonstrators kept Hagerty and MacArthur trapped in the U.S. embassy auto more than an hour until a daring U.S. Marine helicopter pilot braved the crowd's fury to land and carry the two men to safety.

Hagerty jumped into the limousine almost as soon as the U.S. Air Force Constellation bringing him here landed. But the car never made the gate before it was swamped by demonstrators.

HELP CALLED

Only a few police were in the area, but 1,000 reinforcements were rushed in and officers formed a cordon around the car.

Fist and club fights raged

freely around the car as Hagerty, pale but seemingly calm, sat inside smoking a cigarette.

Several helicopters circled overhead, making low passes over the crowd while the demonstrators threw rocks at the car, police and the helicopters.

Meanwhile, another estimated 3,000 demonstrators gathered in front of the U.S. embassy in downtown Tokyo. They shouted, "Ike don't visit Japan" and "U.S. get out of Tokyo."

A brawl between rightists and leftists groups broke out at the airport minutes before Hagerty's arrival at 3:35 p.m. (2:35 a.m. EDT).

The near-crazed demonstrators crawled over the sleek black Cadillac and jumped on it and appeared to be trying to drag Hagerty and MacArthur out of it.

The demonstrators smashed the left front window of the limousine in an attempt to carry out their threat to "frighten" Hagerty into telling "his master not to come to Japan."

PLACARDS SHOVED

"They beat on other windows with their fists and shoved placards almost directly in front of Hagerty's and MacArthur's faces."

The top of the Cadillac was dented by the leftists who crawled over it.

Police finally fought their way to the automobile in hand-to-hand battles with the mob and formed a protective wall around it. Then they tried to move the car ahead slowly.

STONES FLY

A shower of stones came out of the mob. They fell on the car and the police.

Occasionally a fanatic demonstrator tried to crash through the police ranks and each time there was a violent stick and fist battle with police.

HUGE CUT

A police club met a demonstrator squarely across the forehead, smashing his glasses and opening a huge cut on his head. Police quickly dragged him away. Some of his colleagues tried to free him from police and the fight grew bigger.

They dragged one of the policemen a few yards away and began stomping and kicking him. He soon was rescued by other police.

This was but one of the many fights that broke out around the automobile where the two Americans were trapped. All of them lasted only a few seconds but they were usually violent and bloody.

There were an estimated 5,000 demonstrators and 2,000 police in the area.

PREMIER BENNETT ... Inflation over

On Way Home

U.K. Stormed By Bennett?

BY RICHARD L. THOMAS
Colonist London Correspondent

LONDON—Premier Bennett left here homeward bound yesterday convinced he had taken the austere halls of British high finance by storm.

He boarded the Queen Mary at Southampton freely predicting that his fortnight of talks with the elite of the English investment world will produce dynamic results in securing development capital and new industries for British Columbia.

"I met an influential cross-section of British bankers, financiers, industrialists and businessmen" and "they were impressed with British Columbia's record and convinced me that the period of acute inflation is over."

He said he had noted "intense interest" in British Columbia developments and progress and is "confident of substantial new investment in the province and a period of expanding trade in both directions between Britain and British Columbia."

The premier predicted that a number of important leaders of British industry will visit the province in the near future.

He said London was devoid of any "crisis temperament" and that he saw "complete confidence everywhere."

SIZE AND BEAUTY
Impressed by his visit to Crawley New Town, the premier said he believed the new planning concept could be adapted to British Columbia. He was particularly impressed by the size and beauty of parks and open spaces within British municipalities.

Chinese Racket Stirs Commons

OTTAWA (CP)—Frank Howard, CCF—Skeena, suggested Thursday in the Commons that some immigration department officials might have participated in the Chinese immigration racket now under RCMP investigation.

At one point in the heated debate a CCF member charged there was "$33,000,000-worth of graft someplace."

HOTLY DENIED

An angry Immigration Minister Fairclough hotly denied the allegation and said that so far she has no doubts about the integrity of the immigration department staff.

"Put up or shut up," she said to Mr. Howard.

"The whole staff's rotten," interjected Arnold Peters (CCF, Timiskaming).

BLOW-UP

The blow-up came near the end of a long day's debate on immigration policy.

Mr. Howard said the Chinese immigration racket casts great doubt on the efficiency of departmental officials in Hong Kong.

"Maybe they participated in the scheme," he added. Mrs. Fairclough said she took strong exception to this remark.

Mr. Howard said he was told two or three years ago by Chinese-Canadians in Vancouver and Prince Rupert, B.C., that they could get relatives into Canada for $3,000.

INVOLVED

They had also mentioned, he said, that persons working for the immigration department were involved in the scheme.

He said on the basis of 11,000 illegal entrants—a figure which he said the department has not disputed—paying $3,000 each there was $33,000,000-worth of graft someplace." The department couldn't have been as ignorant of the racket as Mrs. Fairclough claimed.

At the night sitting, Mr. Peters renewed the accusations that immigration department officials whom he referred to as "ignorant and backward" must have known something about the illegal entry racket.

J. W. Pickersgill (L., Bonaville-Twillingate), former immigration minister, accused Mr. Peters later of hiding behind his parliamentary immunity to attack officials who were present in the House but could not reply. About 15 departmental personnel were in the galleries at the time.

Hong Kong Typhoon Kills 60

HONG KONG (Reuters)—This battered British colony counted at least 60 persons dead or missing Thursday night in the wake of a typhoon. Officials listed 28 persons dead, 32 missing, 27 severely injured and more than 4,000 homeless in the densely-populated colony on the coast of mainland China. The toll was expected to go higher.

50 Buckle Welts Mark Boy's Body

An eight-year-old Langford schoolboy beaten more than 50 times around the face and body by the buckle end of a belt in a dispute with a 10-year-old boy was in satisfactory condition at St. Joseph's Hospital last night.

Assault charges will be laid in juvenile court by Philip Valcourt, 2213 Millstream Road, father of the victim of the savage attack, Michel Valcourt.

Mr. Valcourt said last night a doctor had told him his son was "lucky" to be alive. About 50 belt buckle marks were found on the little boy's body and face.

Michel was apparently on his way to a nearby sawmill after school Wednesday to wait for his father to finish work when the beating occurred.
